

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

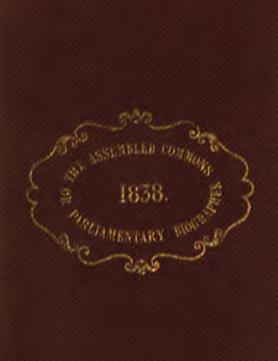

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

OR,

PARLIAMENTARY BIOGRAPHER.

The Speaker.

THIS ancient officer, under whose presidency the Commons assemble and sit, derives his designation from being the mouth-piece of the House. He is esteemed, ex officio, the first commoner in the empire, and takes rank immediately after the peerage, having that precedency at the Queen's council table. He does not vote on any question, except the numbers be equal, and then his opinion is decisive. When the House resolves itself into Committee the Speaker vacates the chair, takes his seat with the other members, and votes and speaks in his capacity of Member of Parliament. His salary was formerly £5000 a year, but in 1933 it was reduced to £4000, with a retiring pension. When the choice of a Speaker is to be contested, the election is decided by the majority of the votes present. The Clerk of the House is addressed by the members who speak in support of the respective candidates, and upon the conclusion of the debate, it is his duty to put the question, and count the numbers for each. The Speaker is chosen, not at the commencement of each session, but at the meeting of every new Parliament. His powers are considerable. When he interposes his authority, no member can for a moment question it : were any one to do so, the Speaker can order him at once int the custody of the Serjeant-at-Arms.

ABERCROMBY (Edinburgh).

THE RIGHT HON. JAMES ABERCROMBY WAS Chosen SPEAKER in 1835, after a severe struggle with SIR CHARLES MAN-NERS SUTTON, who had filled the chair for the eighteen previous years. Mr. ABERCROMBY is the third son of Sir Ralph Abercromby, the hero of Alexandria, by Mary-Anne, his wife, daughter of John Menzies, Esq. of Fernton, which lady, when an official account of the triumph and fate of her lamented husband reached England, was elevated to the peerage as BARONESS ABERCHOMBY. The Speaker, who formerly filled the office of Chief Baron of the Court of Exchequer in Scotland, and subsequently that of Master of the Mint, is a man of ability, and exercised much influence in the House, especially with his own party, prior to his elevation to the chair. He was born in 1776, and married, in 1802, Mary-Anne, daughter of Egerton Leigh, Esq. of West Hall, in High Leigh, by whom he has an only son, Ralph, a diplomatist. (7, Curlton Gardens.)

ACHESON, VISC. (ARMAGH).

LORD ACHESON, who has had a seat in Parliament since 1830, is the only son of Archibald Acheson, Earl of Gosford, Lord-Lieutenant of the county, and at present Governor of Canada, by Mary, daughter of Robert Sparrow, Esq. of Worlingham-hall, in Suffolk. He was born in 1806, and married in 1832 Lady Theodosia Brabazon, daughter of the Earl of Meath, by whom he has two daughters. The ancient family, one of Scottish extraction, from which his lordship descends, was established more than two centuries ago in the north of Ireland, by Sir Archibald Acheson, of Gosford, in Haddingtonshire, an eminent lawyer, sometime Secretary of State for Scotland, and has since possessed considerable influence. Lord ACHESON voted for Reform, and has always acted with the Whig party. (Cosford Castle, Market Hill, co. of Armagh.)

ACLAND (DEVON, NORTH).

SIR THOMAS DYKE ACLAND, of Columb John, in Devonshire, succeeded Mr. Fellowes in the representation of the county, and professes sentiments moderately Tory. The Aclands are of great antiquity and influence in the west of England. Sir John Acland, the first baronet, was pre-eminently distinguished by his zealous devotion to the cause of Royalty during the Civil War; and at one time the garrison of Columb John was, according to Lord Clarendon, the only armed force which the unfortunate Charles had in the whole county of Devon. The present Sir Thomas Acland was born Mar. 29, 1787, and married in 1808 Lydia-Elizabeth, only daughter of Henry Hoare, Esq. of Mitcham Grove, Surrey. (Kellerton, Somersetshire.)

ACLAND (SOMERSET, WEST).

THOMAS DYKE ACLAND, Esq. the new member for West Somerset, in place of Mr. Kemeys-Tinte, is eldest son of Sir Thomas Dyke Acland, Bart. knight of the shire for Devon. Mr. Acland was born in 1809, and is unmarried. His politics are moderately Tory. (Kellerton, Somersetshire.)

A'COURT (TAMWORTH).

Capt. EDWARD HENRY A'COURT, R.N. will inherit, should he survive the testator's widow, the estates of his cousin the late Charles Edward Repington, Esq.* of Amington

The alliance between Capt. A'Court and the late Mr. Repington came through the Vernons. Thomas Vernon, Esq., of Twekechama Park, had two daughters, one of whom, Annabella, married General William A'Court, M.P., and was Capt. A'Court's grandmother; the other, Mailds, married Charles Repington, Esq., of Amington Hall, and was mother of Charles Edward Repington, Esq., of Amington Hall, who died June 27, 1837, S. P., Leaving the eventual heritance of his estates to his cousin, Capt. A'Court.

Hall, near Tamworth, and hence arises his influence in that borough, for which he is for the first time returned. The honourable gentleman is second son of the late Sir William Pierce Ashe A'Court, Bart. brother to the present Lord Heytesbury, and uncle to Mr. A'Court Holmes, member for the Isle of Wight. The politics of the family are Torv. (Heytesbury, Witts.)

ADAM (CLACKMANNAN).

SIR CHARLES ADAM, Knt. of Barns, Vice-Admiral of the White, K.C.B., and one of the Lords of the Admiralty, is returned by the Reform interest, and invariably divides with the Liberals. He is the eldest son of the Right Hon. William Adam, of Blair Adam, in Kinross-shire, and Woodston, in Kincardineshire, one of the Barons of the Court of Exchequer in North Britain, and Lord Chief Commissioner of the Scots Jury Court, by the Hon. Eleanora Elphinstone, daughter of Charles, 10th Lord Elphinstone, and sister of the celebrated Admiral Lord Keith.

ADMIRAL ADAM is nearly connected with many eminent Scottish houses. (Barns, Clackmannanshire.)

ADARE (GLAMORGANSHIRE).

VISCOUNT ADARE sits for the first time in parliament, and supports the Tory party. His Lordship, who is elder son of the present Earl of Dunraven, descends from the Quins of Adare, in the county of Limerick, one of the very few families in the Irish Peerage which claim national descent. The surname is derived from "Con Cead Caha," or "Cin of the hundred battles," mongarch of Ireland in the 2nd century, whose grandson was called Quin, that is, the descendant of Con. Lord Adare's influence in the county he represents is derived from his mother, the daughter and sole heir of Thomas Wyndham, Esq. of Dunraven Castle, who was chosen knight of the shire for Glamorgan in 1790. His Lordship was born in 1812. (Adare Abbey, Limerick.)

AGLIONBY (COCKERMOUTH).

HENRY AGLIONBY AGLIONBY, Esq. of Newbiggin Hall, in Cumberland, a barrister practising on the northern circuit, was first returned at the election succeeding the passing of the Reform Bill. He was born Dec. 28, 1790, and is unmarried. The Aglionbys were founded by one of the soldiers of the Sonquest, and have been ever since resident in Cumberland, enjoying large estates, intermarrying with the Broughams, the Lawsons, the Musgraves, and other eminent families, and frequently representing Carlisle in Parliament. During the civil war they espoused the royal cause, and John Aglionby, the then chief of the house, took an active part in the defence of that city, when besieged by the Parliamentarians, from Oct. 1644, until its surrender in June, 1645. In defiance, however, of the terms of the capitulation, that the garrison should enjoy the honours of war, and the citizens perfect safety, Mr. Aglionby and Sir Philip Musgrave were both thrown into prison and condemned to death, but providentially escaped the night previous to the day appointed for their execution. The hon. member for Cockermouth is the son of the Rev. Samuel Bateman, Rector of Farthingstone, by Anne, his wife, daughter and co-heir of Henry Aglionby, Esq. of the Nunnery, and assumed his present surname on inheriting a portion of the Aglionby estates. Mr. Aglionay is of the extreme Liberal party.

Prior to the passing of the Reform Bill, Lord Lonsdale possessed paramount influence in the now very independent borough of Cockermouth. (Newbiggin Hall, near Carlisle.)

AGLIONBY (EAST CUMBERLAND).

FRANCIS AGLIONEY, Esq. of the Nunnery, contested West Camberland unsuccessfully in 1835, but was returned at the last election for the eastern division of the sam county by a large majority over Sir James Graham, Bart. Major Aslionav is cousin of the member for Cockermouth, and of the same political party. (The Nunnery, Cumberland.)

AINSWORTH (BOLTON).

Peter Ainsworth, Esq. of Smethill's Hall, in Lancashire, a deputy-lieutenant for that county, elected for the first time in 1835, after a severe contest with Colonel Torrens, was born Nov. 24, 1790, and married, in 1815, Elizabeth, daughter of Ashton Byrom, Esq. of Fairview, near Liverpool. Mr. Ainsworth, as well as his brother, John H. Ainsworth, Esq. of Moss Bank, possesses considerable landed property in the neighbourhood of the borough he represents. He is a Reformer. (Smethill's Hall, near Bolton.)

ALEXANDER (County of Tyrone).

VISCOUNT ALEXANDER contested Tyrone in 1835 unsuccessfully against Lord Claude Hamilton, but at the present election was returned without opposition. He is only son of the Earl of Caledon, lord-lieutenant of the county, by Catherine-Freman, daughter of Philip, Earl of Hardwicke, Viceroy of Ireland from 1801 to 1806. The Bishop of Meath, and the Messrs. Alexander, the merchants, who represented Old Sarum in former times, are cousins to Lord Alexander. His Lordship was born July 27, 1813. In politics he is a moderate Tory. (Castle Culedon, county of Tyrone.)

ALFORD, Visc. (BEDFORDSHIRE).

LORD ALFORD is the elder son of the Right Hon. John Cust, Earl of Brownlow, lord-lieutenant of Lincolnshire, grandson of Sir Abraham Hume, Bart. who wedded Lady Emilia Egerton, and great-grandson of Sir John Cust, Bart., Speaker of the House of Commons in 1761. One of the early ancestors of the Custs, Richard Cust, Esq. of Pinchbeck, represented the county of Lincoln in 1653, but was expelled his seat by Cromwell. His son, marrying the heiress of Brownlow, Lord Tyrconnel, eventually inherited the extensive estates of that nobleman, including the splendid mansion of Belton. To Lord Alford, the late Earl of Bridgewater, his uncle, bequeathed a large fortune, on condition that he obtain a higher grade in the peerage than that enjoyed by his father, the Earl of Brownlow. In the event of the Crown's refusal to confer the honour, the Egertons of Tatton will inherit the estates. Lord Alford is of the Tory party. (Belton House, near Grantham, Lincolnshire.)

ALSAGER (SURREY, E.)

RICHARD ALSAGER, Esq. has represented, upon Tory principles, the eastern division of this county since the general election in 1835, when he defeated, after a very severe struggle, Mr. Briscoe, the former member.

"Having realized," (we quote the hon. gentleman's address) "in the situation of officer and commander in the maritime service of the East India Company, an independent fortune, I am now totally unconnected with business, and have therefore sufficient leisure to fulfil the responsible duties I have offered to take upon me." His brother is stated to be the writer of the City article in the "Times" newspaper. (Tooting, Surrey.)

ALSTON (HERTFORDSHIRE).

ROWLAND ALSTON, Esq. of Pishiobury, was first returned in 1835. His opinions are extremely liberal, and his name is to be found in almost every division on the side of the Whig party. Mr. ALSTON formerly resided at Harold House, in Bedfordsbire, and has inherited the property of the Alstons of Odell, in that county, who were raised to the degree of Baronet in 1842. Nis example the Hertfordshire he acquired by purchase in 1823 from the Earl of Hardwicke. (Pishiobury, Sawbridgeworth, Herts.)

ANDOVER, VISC. (MALMESBURY).

LORD ANDOVER is the eldest son of Thomas Howard, Earl of Suffolk, by Elizabeth-Jane, daughter of James, 1st Lord Sherborne. His Lordship, born 7th Nov. 1804, married, in 1829, Isabella, second daughter of Lord Henry Howard, and has issue. The branch of the illustrious house of Howard from which he descends was founded by (the only son of the 4th Duke of Norfolk. by his second wife Margaret, only daughter and heiress of Thomas Lord Audley, of Walden) Lord Thomas Howard, a distinguished naval officer of the reign of ELIZABETH, who was created Earl of Suffolk. This nobleman, in 1605, being then Lord Chamberlain of his Majesty's Household, was employed, with Lord Monteagle, who had given the alarm, to institute a strict search about the Parliament-house; and through his lordship's vigilance, the subsequent discovery of the gunpowder treason, the detection of the conspirators, and the preservation of the King and Parliament, are mainly attributable.

LORD ANDOVER is a Reformer. (Charlton, near Malmesbury.)

ANSON (LICHFIELD).

Sir Grorde Anson, K.C.B., the representative of this borough since 1806, a general in the army, and colonel of the 4th Dragoon Guards, established a high military reputation in the Peninsular war, and received the thanks of Parliament for his distinguished conduct at Talavera, Salamanca, and Vittoria. He is uncle to the present Earl of Lichfield, son of George Adams Anson, Kaq., M.P., and grand-nephew of Lord Anson, the celebrated circumnavigator. Sir George, born 12th Aug. 1700, wedded, in 1800, Frances, sister of Sir Frederica.

rick Hamilton, Bart., and has a very numerous family. His eldest daughter is married to Mr. Plumer Ward, the accomplished author of "Tremaine," father of the member for Sheffield. The politics of the Anson family have always been Whig, and Sir George invariably acts with that party. (Rush Hall, Staffordshire.)

ANSON (STAFFORDSHIRE, S.)

THE HON. Col. George Anson, next brother of the Earl of Lichfield, and grandson of the Earl of Leicester, has represented Great Yarmouth and Stoke-upon-Trent, and was returned by the county for which he now sits in 1837, succeeding Sir Francis Holyoake Goodricke, Bart. He was born in 1797, and married, in 1830, the Hon Lsabella-Elizabeth Forester, sister of Lord Forester. His politics are Whig. (Shugborough Park, near Lichfield.)

ARBUTHNOT (KINCARDINESHIRE).

HON. LIEUT.-GEN. HUGH ARBUTHNOT, C.B., of Arbuthnothouse, has had a seat in Parliament for the county since 1826, and constantly supported the Tories. He is 2nd son of John, late Visc. Arbuthnot, by Isabella, daughter of William Graham, Esq. of Morphie. (Arbuthnot-house, Hatton.)

ARCHBOLD (County of Kildare).

ROBERT ARCHBOLD, Esq. of Davidstown, a magistrate and deputy-lieutenant of the county he now for the first time represents, is a gentleman of family and fortune. His politics are extremely liberal. (Davidstown, near Castledermot.)

ARCHDALE (FERMANAGH).

MERVYN EDWARD ARCHDALE, Esq. of Riveredale, an officer in the Enniskillen Dragoons, succeeded his uncle General Archdale, of Castle Archdale, in the country the General having represented it in eleven successive parliaments. The Archdales of Castle Archdale, originally from Norfolk, first setted in Ireland in the time of ELIZABETH, and have since ranked amongst the most influential families in the north of that kingdom. They have allied with the houses of Mervyn, Cole, Montgomery, Dawson, and Rochfort, and have represented, on Tory principles, the county of Fermanagh for more than a century. The present hon member, who was born in Jan. 1812, is eldest son of Edward Archdale, by Matilda, his wife, daughter of William Humphrys, Esq. of Ballyhaise-house, in the county of Cavan, and grandson of Mervyn Archdale, Esq. M.P., of Castle Archdale, by the Hon. Mary Dawson, sister of the 1st Earl of Portarlington. (Riversdale, Enniskillen.)

ASHLEY, VISC. (DORSETSHIRE).

LORD ASHLEY formerly sat in Parliament for Woodstock and Dorchester, and now represents this county, for the fourth time. He is the eldest son of Cropley Ashley Cooper, Earl of Shaftesbury, nephew to the Duke of Marlborough, and nearly connected with Mr. Sturt, one of the other members for the shire. Lord Ashley was born April 28,1801, and is married to Lady Emily Cowper, daughter of the late Earl Cowper, and niece of Viscount Melbourne. He is attached to the Tory party, and has been distinguished in the House of Commons by his humane endeavours to shorten the labour of the factory children.

The peerage now enjoyed by the family was obtained by Sir Anthony Ashley Cooper, Lord Chancellor in 1673; one of the most distinguished statesmen of the era in which he lived, and a member, as Lord Ashley, of the celebrated Cabinet of CHARLES II., so well known as the "Cabal." To this, the great Earl of Shaftesbury, England owes her second charter of freedom, the Habeas Conros Act. (St. Giles's-house, near Cranbourne, Durwitshire.)

ATTWOOD (WHITEHAVEN).

MATTHIAS ATTWOOD, Esq. of Muswell Hill, Middlesex, an eminent banker and merchant in London, was formerly returned by the disfranchised borough of Callington, the property of Mr. Alexander Baring, and subsequently, through the influence of the Duke of Newcastle, for Boroughbridge. In politics he is diametrically opposed to his brother, the member for Birmingham. His father, MATTHIAS ATTWOOD, of Hales Owen, who realized a large fortune by a monopoly of Swedish iron, left, with other children, six sons; the eldest, MATTHIAS, is the member for Whitehaven; the second, George, is a banker at Birmingham; the third, Thomas, is M.P. for that great manufacturing town; the fourth is a banker in London; the fifth, a Russian merchant; and the sixth, Charles, well known as a Reformer at Newcastle. (Muswell Hill, Middlesex.)

ATTWOOD (BIRMINGHAM).

THOMAS ATTWOOD, Eq., a banker in Birmingham, chairman of the celebrated political union, was returned to Parliament by that great manufacturing town immediately on its being invested with the elective franchise, and has since uninterruptedly represented it. (Birmingham.)

ATTWOOD (GREENWICH).

MATTHIAS WOLVERLEY ATTWOOD, Esq. succeeded to the representation of Greenwich after a severe contest with Admiral Napier, so well known for his services in the late Portuguese war. Mr. Attwood is son of the member for Whitehaven, and nephew to Mr. Attwood, of Birmingham. His sentiments are Tory. (Muswell Hill, Middleser.)

Mr. Attwood's brother, the late James Attwood, Esq. left a son, John, who sold the Corngreaves iron-works to the British Iron Company for £500,000, and hence arose the celebrated cause so well known in Westminster Hall, Small against Attwood, from which the gentlemen of the robe have gathered in, and are yet gathering.

BAGGE (NORFOLK, W.)

WILLIAM BAGGE, Esq. of Stradsett, unsuccessfully contested West Norfolk in 1835, but was at the late election returned by a considerable majority. The family of Bagge, which has held lands in Norfolk since 1560, is of northern extraction, and a branch of the old Swedish stock of the same name which still continues in that kingdom. The new member is son and heir of the late Thomas Philip Bagge, Eq. of Stradsett, and nearly related to the Astleys of Melton Constable, the Prestons of Beeston, the Hamonds, &c. He was born June 17, 1810, and married, July 11, 1833, Frances, daughter of the late Sir Thomas Preston, Bart. His politics are Tory. (Stradsett Hall, Norfolk.)

BAGOT (DENBIGHSHIRE).

HON. WILLIAM BAGOT, through the influence of Sir W. Wynn, succeeded in defeating, at the general election in 1835, the former member, Mr. Myddleton Biddulph, of Chirk Castle, and has, since his return, acted with the Tory party; giving his vote in support of Sir Charles Manners Sutton as speaker, and of Sir Robert Peel's administration. He is the eldest son of William Lord Bagot, nephew to the Earl of Dartmouth, and nearly related to the noble houses of Bolingbroke, Aylesford, and Sherborne. Mr. Bagor was born March 7, 1811, and is unmarried. His ancestors represented Staffordshire in Parliament for two centuries. (Pool Park, Denbigh.)

BAILEY (WORCESTER).

JOSEPH BAILEY, Esq. of Glenusk Park, in the county of Brecon, is a landed proprietor of influence, and also an irea master in the vicinity of Abergavenny. His politics are Thry. (Glenusk Park, Brecon.)

BAILLIE (HONITON).

Col. Hugh Duncan Baillie, who represented the borough of Rye in the Parliament of 1830, is son of the late James Evan Baillie, Esq. of Dochfour in Inverness-shire, sne of the most eminent commercial men in England, and brother of James Evan Baillie, Esq. formerly member for the city of Bristol, where the family of Baillie, which attained wealth and eminence as West India merchants, enjoys great influence. Col. Baillie voted for Sir Charles Manners Sutton in the contest for the speakership, and supported the administration of Sir Robert Peel. (Mortimer-street, Cauendish-square.)

BAINBRIDGE (TAUNTON).

EDWARD THOMAS BAINBRIDGE, Esq. who has been returned for this borough at four successive elections, succeeded his father, the late Thomas Bainbridge, Esq. as a banker, in London, and a partner in the great commercial house of Puget, Bainbridge, and Co. The elder Mr. Bainbridge was the architect of his own fortune, and is supposed to have died immensely rich. For many years previously, he was esteemed one of the first commercial men in the City. The member for Taunton is a Reformer, and advocates vote by ballot. (10, Park-place, St. James's.)

BAINES (LEEDS).

EDWARD BAINES, Esq. the member and leader of the Reformers of this great commercial town, is a bookseller, and proprietor of the "Leeds Mercury," which is edited by his son, and esteemed, in point of circulation and literary character, the first provincial paper in England. Mr. Baines has himself acquired some reputation as an ^{*} Author of an elaborate work, recently published, on the Manufactures of Lancashire.

author, and has completed a large topographical work, "The History of the County Palatine of Lancaster." He has probably reached his sixtieth year. (Leeds.)

BAKER (WILTON).

EDWARD BAKER, Esq., of Salisbury, is a landed proprietor in the counties of Wilts and Somerset, Lieutenant-Colonel in the Royal Wilts Yeomanry Cavalry, and one of her Majesty's aides-de-camp. His politics are Tory. (Salisbury.)

BALL (CLONNEL).

NICHOLAS BALL, Esq. her Majesty's third Serjeant-atlaw in Ireland, is son of Mr. Ball, partner in a most respectable mercantile house in Dublin, established nearly half a century since. The learned gentleman was called to the bar in 1814, and has attained the highest reputation as an equity lawyer. He was first returned for Chonnel on the demise of Mr. Ronayne, and acts with the Liberal party. (85, Stephen's Green, S. Dublés.)

BANNERMAN (ABERDEEN).

ALEXANDER BANNERMAN, Esq. the member for this borough, is engaged in commercial pursuits. The surname of Bannerman was assumed from the office of banner-bearer to the king, and the family of Bannerman of Elsick, in the county of Kincardine, now represented by Sir Alexander Bannerman, Bart. is one of considerable antiquity. Mr. Bannerman is a Whig. (Aberdeen.)

BARING (PORTSMOUTH).

PRANCIS THORNHILL BARING, Esq. has represented this become since 1826. He is a decided Whig. At the accession of his party to power in 1830, he was made a Lord of the Treasury, and sate at the Board until 1834. He is now one of the Joint Secretaries to the Treasury.

The family of Baring, which came originally from Bremen, has long held the most distinguished rank in the city of London, and Mr. Erskine designated but correctly the late Sir Francis Baring, when he styled him "the first merchant in the world." Sir Francis, who possessed so much influence in the commercial world, that his death, which occurred in 1810, occasioned a sensible depression in the public funds, left five sons and as many daughters. Of the former, the eldest, the present Sir Thomas Baring, Bart. is father of the member for Portsmouth; the second, Alexander Lord Ashburton, of the members for Staffordshire and Thetford; and the third, Henry, of the member for Marlborough. Of Sir Francis Baring's daughters, the eldest married Charles Wall, Esq. father of Mr. Baring Wall, the member for Guildford; and the third, who wedded P. C. Labouchere. Esq. was mother of the member for Taunton. Mr. FRANCIS Baring married, in 1835, Jane, daughter of the late Sir George Grey, Bart. brother of Earl Grey, by Mary, his wife, sister of the celebrated Samuel Whitbread, Esq. M.P. for Bedford. (Stratton Park, Hants.)

BARING (STAFFORDSHIRE, N.)

THE HON. WILLIAM BINGHAM BARING, who is engaged in commercial pursuits, was returned to Parliament for Thetford, in 1826; for Callington, in 1830; for Winchester, in 1832; and for Staffordshire in 1837. The hongentleman, who professes moderate Tory principles, is the eldest son of the Rt. Hon. Alexander Baring, recently raised to the peerage as Baron Ashburton, by Anne, his wife, daughter of William Bingham, Esq. of Philadelphia. Mr. Baring married, in 1823, Lady Harriet Mary Montague, sister of the Earl of Sandwich. (Grange Park, near Alresford.)

BARING (THETFORD).

THE HON. FRANCIS BARING, second son of Lord Ashbuton, entertains the same political principles as his fath He married, in 1833, a daughter of Maret, Duke of Bano. (Grange Park, near Alresford.)

BARING (MARLBOROUGH).

HENRY BINCHAM BARING, Esq. a major in the army, is nephew to Lord Ashburton, and son of Henry Baring, Esq. third son of the late Sir Francis Baring. Major BARING formerly represented Callington, and while member for that borough opposed the Reform Bill. He married, in 1827, Lady Augusta Brudenell, fifth daughter of the Earl of Cardigan. (Carton Club House.)

BARNARD (GREENWICH).

EDWARD GEORGE BARNARD, Esq. of Gosfield Hall, in Kent, a ship-builder at Deptford, has represented Greenwich since its enfranchisement in 1832. He is an ultra Liberal, in favour of triennial parliaments, vote by ballot, and the repeal of the assessed taxes. (Gosfield Hall, Kent.)

BARNEBY (Worcestershire).

JOHN BARNESY, Esq. of Brockhampton, in the county of Hereford, chairman of the Quarter Sessions, and member for Droitwich in the last Parliament, is son of the late John Barneby, Esq. high sheriff of Herefordshire in 1797, by Elizabeth, daughter and sole heir of Robert Bulkeley, of Bulkeley, Esq. in Cheshire. Paternally, Mr. Barneby descends from the Lutleys of Lawton,* and enjoys large estates in the west of England. His brother, on succeeding to a considerable fortune, changed his name, and is BUSFEILD (BRADFORD).

WILLIAM BUSPEILD, Esq. of Upwood, the new member for Bradford, was opposed by his nephew, Mr. William Busfeild, jun. on the Tory interest, but succeeded by a considerable majority. His politics are extremely liberal. The hone. gentleman is son and heir of the late Johnson Athianon, M.D. of Myrtle Grove, who assumed the name of Busfeild in right of his wife, Elizabeth, only daught and heiress of William Busfeild, Esq. of Ryshworth, in Yorkshire, an estate purchased by William Busfeild, who was Mayor of Leeds in 1673. The member for Bradford was born Feb. 12, 1773, and married, May 13, 1800, Caroline, sister of Sir Francis Wood, Bart. (Upwood, in Yorkshire.)

BUTLER (COUNTY OF KILKENNY).

THE HON. PIERCE BUTLER, of Ballyconra, a lieut.-colonel in the army, is fourth son of the late Visc. Mountgarret, and brother of the present Earl of Kilkenny. The Butlers of Ballyconra, from whom the hon, member descends, founded by a younger son of the 8th Earl of Ormonde, were for centuries noted for their opposition to the English Government, and are the only branch of the Butler family which has retained its popularity in Ireland. In 1642, Richard, Visc. Mountgarret, its then chief, took up arms, under an apprehension that the extirpation of the Catholics was in contemplation; and obtaining possession of the city of Kilkenny, was appointed General of the Irish forces, and chosen President of the Supreme Council. The house of Kilkenny possesses large property in the county, whence it derives its title; and is connected by marriage with several leading families in Ireland. Col. BUTLER was born in 1774, and is married to a daughter of the late Thomas Marsh, Esq. In politics he is an ultra Liberal. (Ballyconra, Kilkenny.)

BYNG (MIDDLESEX).

GEORGE BYNG, Esq. of Wrotham Park, has been for nearly half a century the Liberal member for the county of Middlessex; and in the many ferce contests which have occurred in that time, his return has never been endangered. He descends from a common ancestor with the emobiled house of Torrington, and is grand-nephew of the ill-fated Admiral Byng, who was executed in 1757, a a period when "bravery and loyalty were insufficient securities for the life and honour of a naval officer." The hon. member, a great landed proprietor, was born 17th May, 1764, and married Harriet, daughter of the late Sir William, Montgomery, Bart. by whom he has no child. His father, the late George Byng, Esq. represented the metropolitan county in 1780, as colleague to Wilks. (Wrotham Park, near Barnet.)

BYNG (CHATHAM).

THE RIGHT HON. GEORGE STEVENS BYNG, a captain in the army, was appointed, on the return of the Whig ministry to power, Comptroller of the Household, and succeéded, after a contest with the late Sir Colquhoun Grant, to the representation of Poole, upon the elevation of his father to the peerage in May, 1835. He is nephew of the member for Middlesex, and eldest son of the gallant Sir John Byng, so highly distinguished during the Peninsular War, who obtained, some short time since, the Barony of Strafford, in consequence of his descent (through his mother, the daughter of the Rt. Hon. William Conolly, of Castletown) from the Wentworths, Earls of Strafford. Capt. Byng was born June 8, 1806, and married, in 1829, Lady Agnes Paget, daughter of the Marquis of Anglesey.

JOHN HALES CALCRAFT, Esq. of Kempstone Hall, a captain in the army, is son-in-law of the Duke of Manchester, brother-in-law of Sir John Burke, Bt. of Marble Hill, and elder son of the late Right Hon. John Calcraft, formerly knight of the shire for Dorset, by Elizabeth, his wife, third daughter of Sir Thomas Pym Hales, Bart. of Beaksbourne. He possesses estates in the county of Dorset, purchased by his grandfather, John Calcraft, Esq. the army agent, and exercises great influence in the borough of Wareham, for which his uncle Sir Granby Thomas Calcraft formerly sat in parliament. The politics of Mx. Calcraft are Tory. (Kempstone Hall, Dorsetshtre.)

CALLAGHAN (CORK).

Daniel Callagian, Esq. of Lotabeg, in the vicinity of the great commercial city, which he now, for the fifth time, represents, is second son of the late Daniel Callaghan, Esq. one of the most enterprising and successful merchants of Ireland, and brother of the late Gerard Callaghan, Esq. M. P. for Dundalk in 1818. The hon, member was born 7th June, 1786, and is unmarried. He is attached to the Liberal party. (Lotabeg, near Cork.)

CAMPBELL (BERWICKSHIRE).

SIR HUGH PURVES HUME CAMPBELL, Bart. of Purves Hall and Marchmont, inherited the honours and great estates of his family in 1833, and was first elected for Berwickshire in the following year. A considerable portion of his extensive possessions is derived from his maternal ancestors, the Earls of Marchmont, but Purves Hall, whence his baronetcy is designated, descends to him from his paternal progenitor, the celebrated Scotch lawyer, Sir William Purves. The hon. member was born in 1812, and is married to Margaret-Penelope, daughter of John Spottiswoode, Esq. of that Ilk. His politics are Tory. (Purves Hall, in Berwickshire.)

CAMPBELL (Edinburgh).

Sir John Campbell, the Attorney-General, and member for the northern metropolis, has risen very rapidly into notice within the last few years. He ranks among the leading members of his profession, and is acknowledged by all parties to be one of the soundest lawyers now at the bar. The hon. member was, early in life, while a student at the Temple, connected, as a reporter, with the Mogning Chronicle newspaper, but from the period of his being called to the bar in 1807 his application to his professional duties has been undivided. He is son of the Revisional duties has been undivided. He is son in Fileshire, who continued fifty-four years pastor of the same congri gation, and brother of Sir George Campbell, of Edenwood. Lady Campbell, who is the eldest daughter of Lord Abinger, was elevated to the peerage Jan. 19, 1836, as Baroness Stratheden, and derives her title from the dale of Eden, the birth-place of her husband, who was horn in 1778.

CAMPBELL (ARGYLESHIRE).

WALTER FREDERICK CAMPBELL, Esq. of Shawfield and Islay, a landed proprietor of great fortune and influence, claims to be descended from the third son of Colin Moire, ancestor of the ducal house of Argyle, and is connected by intermarriages with almost every family of note in Scotland. He is son of the late Colonel Campbell, by his wife, the beautiful and accomplished Lady Charlotte Campbell, and inherited his extensive estates situated in the counties of Argyle and Lanark, upon the demise of his grandfather in 1816. He is brother-in-law to the Earls of Uxbridge and Charleville. The politics of the Campbell family are Whig. (Woodhall, Lanarkshire.)

CANNING (LYNN REGIS).

RIGHT HON. SIR STRATFORD CANNING, G.C.B., formerly member for Stockbridge, a diplomatist of the first grade, has been ambassador at several foreign courts, and most recently at that of St. Petersburgh. He is son of the late Stratford Canning, Esq., a merchant in London, nephew to the late Lord Garvagh, and first cousin to George Canning. The family of Canning settled in Ireland early in the seventeenth century, and is a branch of the old Catholic house of the same name seated at Foxcote, in the county of Warwick. Sir Stratford has been twice married,—first to Harriet, daughter of Thomas Raikes,

A Lady Charlotte Campbell, who was daughter of John, 5th Duke of Argyle, married secondly the Rev. Edward Bury, and has since dis languaged benefit as Lady Charlotte Bury in the literary world.

Esq., and secondly to Eliza-Charlotte, daughter of James Alexander, Esq. His politics are moderately Whig.

CANTALUPE (HELSTON).

VISCOUNT CANTALUPE, the new member for Helston, is eldest son of the Earl of Delawarr, and nephew to the late Duke of Dorset. The noble family, of which his Lordship is heir, was founded by Sir Thomas West, Knt. an especial favourite of Edward II., who married the heiress of Sir John de Cantalupe, and was summoned to Parliament as a baron in 1342. The politics of his Lordship are Tory. He was born 25th April, 1814. (Bourn Hall, near Caxton, Cambridgeshire.)

CARNAC (SANDWICH).

SIR JAMES RIVETT CARNAC, Bart., of Upper Harley Street, London, succeeded Mr. S. Grove Price, the late Tory member, after a very severe contest. The hon. gentleman, son of the late James Rivett, Esq. who assumed the surname of Carnac, was created a BARONET in 1836. while chairman of the East India Company. The family of Rivett is one of considerable antiquity in the county of Suffolk, but the branch to which Sir James belongs has been settled in Derbyshire for more than a century. His great grandfather, Thomas Rivett, Esq. was mayor of Derby in 1715, and his grandfather, Thomas Rivett, Esq. M.P. for the same town in 1748 and 1756. Sir James Carnac was born 11th Nov. 1784, and married, in 1815, Anna-Maria, eldest daughter of the late William Richardes, Esq. of Penglais. His political sentiments are Liberal.

CASTLEREAGH (DOWNSHIRE).

VISCOUNT CASTLEREAGH was first returned for this county on his coming of age in 1826, and has since continued to represent it on Tory principles. He is the eldest son of Charles-William, present Marquis of Londonderry, by his first wife Catherine, daughter of John, 3rd Earl of Darnley, and nephew of the late peer so celebrated under the title his lordship bears. The first of the Stewart family who settled in Ireland, John Stewart, Esq., descended from Sir Thomas Stewart of Minto, received a large grant of land from King James I., in the county of Donegal, and erecting the castle of Ballylawn, seated himself there.

The recent head of the Nottinghamshire branch of the Cartwrig's headly was hajor Cartwright, the Reformer.

The late Lord Castlereagh, when scarcely of age, stood one of the severest contests on record, for the county of Down: it lasted three months, and occasioned his lordship an expenditure of more than twenty-five thousand pounds. (Mount Stewart, Newtown Ards.)

CAVE (TIPPERARY).

ROBERT OTWAY CAVE, Esq. possesses extensive estates in Ireland, acquired under the Commonwealth; and, in addition, will, if he survive his mother, inherit the large English property of his maternal ancestors, the Caves of Stanford. He is nephew to the gallant Admiral Sir Robert Waller Otway, Bart. one of the personal friends of Wil-LIAM IV. and son of the late Henry Otway, Esq. of Castle Otway, by Sarah, his wife, sister and heiress of Sir Thomas Cave, Bart. of Stanford Hall. Mrs. Otway Cave has recently established her right, as one of the co-heirs, to the barony of Braye. The family of Otway, one of great antiquity, was seated in early times at Middleton. in Westmoreland. The member for Tipperary married, in 1833, Sophia, eldest daughter of Sir Francis Burdett. Bart. He is an active member of the Whig party. (Castle Otway, County of Tipperary.)

CAVENDISH (EAST SUSSEX).

HOM. CHARLES COMPTON CAVENDISH, of Compton Place, has been returned for many years to Parliament, successively by Newton, Yarmouth, and East Sussex. The illustrious house of Cavendish, of which, in the last century, two branches attained dukedoms, laid the foundation of its greatness on the share of abbey lands obtained at the dissolution of the monasteries, by Sir William Cavendish, the faithful attendant of cardinal Wolsey; and, subsequently, by the abilities and good fortune of Elizabeth, his widow, who re-married George, Earl of Shrewbury, and died in 1607, aged eighty-seven. At the present day, few families in the empire possess greater influence, or more extensive estates.

The member for East Sussex is the youngest son of the late Earl of Burlington, and cousin-german to the Duke of Devonshire. He was born 28th August, 1793, and married, in 1814, Catherine-Susan, eldest daughter of the Earl of Aboyne, by whom he has issue. The politics of the Cavendishes are invariably Whig. His lordship, who was born in 1805, and married, in 1803, Henrietta-Maria, daughter of Lord Forester, by the youngest son of the late Marquia Conyngham, by Rlizabeth, daughter of Joseph Denison, Esq. the well-opulent merchant, and grandson of Francis Pierpont Burton, Esq. of Buncraggy, M.P. who assumed the name of Conyngham upon inheriting the honours and estates of that family. The politics of the house of Conyngham are Whig. (Bifrons, Kent.)

COOPER (DORCHESTER).

THE HON. ANTHONY HENRY ASHLEY COOPER, a captain in the army, who has sat for this borough since 1831, and always supports the Tories, is third son of the Earl of Shaftesbury, and brother of Lord Ashley. He was born May 5, 1807, and is married to the only daughter of Robert Pattison, Esq. of Wracklesford, in the county of Dorset. (St Giles's House, near Cranborne.)

COOPER (County of Sligo).

EDWARD JOSHUA COOPER, Esq. son of Edward S. Cooper, Esq. for many years knight of the shire, represents an old and influential family, long seated at Markree Castle, in the county of Sligo. He has been twice married, first to a daughter of Col. L'Estrange, of Moystown, in the King's County, and secondly to a daughter of Owen Wynne, Esq. of Haslewood. His opinions are Tory. (Markree Castle, near Collooney.)

COOTE (QUEEN'S COUNTY).

SIR CHARLES HENRY COOTE, Bart. of Ballyfin, succeeded at the election of 1832, in maintaining his seat for the Queen's County, which he has now represented, on Tory principles, during eighteen years, after one of the severest contests on record, with Peter Gale, Esq. of Ashfield Hall, the present high-sheriff of the county. The hon. member, son of Chidley Coote, Esq. grandson of Robert Coote, Esq. of Ash Hall, near Killmalloc, and grand-nephew of the celebrated Sir Ryre Coote, inherited the premier baronetcy of Ireland on the demise of his kinsman, Charles, Earl of Mountrath, and possesses great estates, with a magnificent seat, in county by which he is returned. Sir CHARLES Co. is married to a daughter of John Whaley, Esq. of Whal Abbey, in Wicklow, and has issue. (Ballyfin, Mous rath.)

COPELAND (STORE-UPON-TRENT).

WILLIAM TAYLOR COPELAND, Esq. of Lee House, in Essex, a very opulent porcelain manufacturer and merchant, served as sheriff in 1838-29, was subsequently chosen alderman, and became, in 1836, Lord Mayor, of London. His father, William Copeland, Esq. was partner with the late Josiah Spode, in the Stoke potteries, and the hon. member, besides succeeding to his father's share in the business, has purchased the interest of the Spode family. He was born in 1797, and married, in 1826, Miss Sarah Yates, by whom he has issue. Mr. Alderman COPELAND is a moderate Reformer. He was member for Coleraine in the last parliament. (Leyton and Les House, Essex.)

CORRY (Tyrone).

THE HON. HENRY THOMAS CORRY, who has supported the Tory party since his return to parliament in 1826, and held office as vice-chamberlain, under the government of Sir Robert Peel, is the second son of Somerset, present Earl of Belmore, formerly Governor-general of Jamaica, and nephew to Lord Carrick. His great grandfather, Galbraith Lowry, Esq. of Ahenis, and his grandfather, Armar Lowry, Esq. previously to his elevation to the peerage, both represented the county of Tyrone. The name of Corry was assumed by the Lowrys on inheriting the Corry estates. The present member was born March 9, 1803, and married, in 1823 Lady Harriet Anne Ashley Cooper, second daughter Earl Shaftesbury. (Castlecoole, near Enniatelliers)

COWPER (HERTPORD).

THE HON. WILLIAM FRANCIS COWPER, an officer in the Horse Guards, is the second son of the late Earl Cowper, a Whig nobleman of great influence, by Amelia, sister of the present Lord Melbourne, and brother-in-law to Lord Ashley, the member for Dorsetshire. He was born Dec. 12, 1811. The noble house of Cowper, to which the hon. gentleman belongs, and of which the poet Cowper was so bright an ornament, owes its elevation to the peerage to the abilities of the celebrated lawyer, Sir William Cowper, Lord Chancellor of England, who officiated as High Steward at the trial of the Jacobite Lords in 1716. (Panshanger, Herts.)

CRAWFORD (London).

WILLIAM CRAWFORD, Esq. has realized a considerable fortune in India, whither he went at an early age in the Company's service, and is now a partner in the commercial house of Crawford, Colvin and Co. He unsuccessfully contested in 1832 the town of Brighton, where, it is said, his father, Mr. Crawford, formerly kept a library and the post office, and succeeded to the representation of London, upon the retirement of Sir John Key. His politics are Whig. (Pipptrook House, near Dorking.)

COURTENAY (BRIDGEWATER).

PHILIP COURTENAY, Esq. sits for the first time in Parliament, and acts with the Tory party. In conjunction with Mr. Broadwood, the hon. member was returned against Sir Thomas Lethbridge and Mr. Sheridan, grandson of the Right Hon. Richard Brinsley Sheridan, the latter gentlemen polling but a few voters, preparatory, it is stated, to the adoption of other proceedings.

CRAIG (County of Edinburgh).

WILLIAM GIBSON CRAIG, Esq. an advocate at the Scotch bar, is the elder son of Sir James Gibson Craig, of Riccarton, Clerk of the Signet, a leading politician in the modern Athens, who was created a Baronet during Lord Grey's government in 1831. Mr. GIBSON CRAIG acts with the Whigs. He was born Aug. 2, 1797. (Riccaston, in the county of Mid-Lothian.)

CRESSWELL (LIVERPOOL).

CRESSWELL CRESSWELL, Esq. a leading barrister on the northern circuit, and one of the Queen's Counsel, was returned by the Tory influence in place of Mr. Ewart. The learned gentleman is younger brother of the present John AddisonCresswell Baker, Esq. of Cresswell, high-sheriff of Northumberland in 1821, and son of the late Francis Easterby, Esq. of Blackheath, who married the elder daughter and co-heir of John Cresswell, Esq. of Cresswell, and assumed her surname. The Cresswells have been seated from an early era in the north of England. (King's Bench Walk, Temple.)

CREWE (South Derbyshine).

Sir George Crewe, Bart, of Caulk Abbey, is grandson of Sir Henry Harpur, M. P. for Derbyshire in 1761, and son of the late Sir Henry Harpur, Bart. who assumed in 1808 the surname of Crewe, in consequence of his descent from Catherine, daughter and co-heir of Thomas Lord Crewe, of Stene. The family of Harpur, whence the hon member paternally derives, has been for ages one of great importance in the county of Derby, and allied to the first houses in England. At one period, its large estates were distributed among various branches, but the great wealth of the family became eventually concentrated, towards the end of the seventeenth century, in the person of Sir John Harpur, and has descended in a direct line to the present Baronet.

66 THE ASSEMBLED COMMONS; OR,

Sir George Crewe was born Feb. 1, 1795, and married in 1819 a daughter of the Rev. Mr. Whittaker, of Mendham, in Norfolk, by whom he has several children. He is a moderate Reformer. (Caulk Abbey, Derbyshire.)

CRIPPS (CIRENCESTER).

JOSEPH CRIPPS, Esq. has sat for this borough since 1807, and usually votes with the Tory party. The family of Cripps has acquired considerable wealth as clothiers at Cirencester, and the hon. member's son is an eminent banker there. (Cirencester.)

CROMPTON (THIRSK).

SAMUEL CROMPTON, Esq. who has been in Parliament for eighteen years, represents the Cromptons of Derby, for more than a century opulent bankers in that town, and resides at Woodend, an estate in the vicinity of Thirsk, purchased by his father, the late Samuel Crompton, Esq. The family of Crompton is widely spread over the counties of Derby and York, and in the latter shire the hon. member's first cousin William Rookes Crompton Stansfield, Esq. possesses the beautiful seat of Esholt Priory.

Mr. CROMPTON was born in 1785, and married in 1820 Isabella-Sophia, daughter of the Hon. and Rev. Archibald Hamilton Cathcart, prebendary of York, brother of the present Karl Cathcart. In politics he is a Whig. (Woodend. near Thirsk.)

CURRIE (NORTHAMPTON).

RAIKES CURRIE, Esq. the new member for Northampton, is a member of the well-known mercantile family of the city of London, and second son of Isaac Currie, Esq., the banker. The hon. gentleman's politics are Whig. (Hyde Park Terrace.)

CURRY (ARMAGH).

WILLIAM CURRY, Esq. is nephew of the late member, Leonard Dobbin, Esq. a solicitor of high character and rank in his profession, and agent to the Bank of Ireland in Armagh, where he possesses considerable influence. Mr. Curry has attained distinction at the Irish bar, to which he was called in 1806, and is one of her Majesty's counsel. He sits for the first time in Parliament, and advocates liberal measures. (Summer Hill, Dublin.)

DALMENY (STIRLING).

LORD DALMENY is the elder son of Archibald John Primrose, Earl of Rosebery, a Whig nobleman of considerable property and influence in the north, and nearly related to the noble houses of Radnor, Arundel, and Argyle. His Lordship was born Oct. 2, 1809. The ancient line of Primrose, whence he descends, has been, at various periods, highly distinguished in the legal annals of Scotland, and twice raised to the peerage. During the civil wars its then chief, Sir Archibald Primrose, ermained devotedly attached to the ill-fated Charles, and after the Restoration was appointed Lord Register under the honorary title of Lord Carrington. Previously to its elevation to the Upper House, the family of Primrose not unfrequently represented the county of Edinburgh in Parliament.

Lord Dalment has sat for the Stirling district of boroughs since 1832, always acts with the Liberal party, and holds office as a Lord of the Admiralty. (Dalmeny Park, Limititeow.)

^{*} Sir Archibald's sister, Alison Primrose, was married to George Heriot, the celebrated court jeweller.

DALRYMPLE (BRIGHTON).

SIR ADOLPHUS JOHN DALRYMPLE, Bart. of High Mark, in the county of Wigton, the new Tory member for Brighton, is only son of the late General Hew Whiteford Dalrymple, who was created a Baronet in 1815, and great-grandson of the Hon. Hew Dalrymple, one of the younger sons of James, first Viscount Stair. Sir Adolphus is a colonel in the army, and aide-de-camp to the Queen. He was born Feb. 3, 1784, and married, in 1812, Anne, daughter of Sir James Graham, Bart. of Kirkstall. (High Mark, in Wigtonshire.)

DAWSON-DAMER (PORTARLINGTON).

THE HON. GEORGE LIONEL DAWSON-DAMER possesses landed property both in England and Ireland, and assumed the surname of Damer in 1829, upon succeeding to a portion of the estates of his maternal ancestors, the Damers, upon the demise of his aunt, Lady Caroline Damer. He is brother of John Dawson, present Earl of Portarlington, and grandson of Lord Bute, the celebrated prime minister of George III. The hon. member is a lieutenant-colonel in the army, and was present at the battle of Waterloo. He was born Oct. 28, 1788, and married in 1825 Mary, daughter of Lord Hugh Seymour. Col. DAWSON-DAMER'S sentiments are hostile to the Whig government, of which, however, his brother-in-law, Sir Henry Parnell, is a member. (Came, Dorsetshire.)

DARBY (Sussex, E.)

GEORGE DARRY, Esq. barrister-at-law, sits for the first time in Parliament, and advocates Tory measures. He is son of John Darby, Esq. an eminent merchant of the city of London, and descends from a most respectable family long seated at Leap Castle in the King's County, of which the late Admiral Darby and Gen. Darby were distinguished members. (Markley, Sussex.)

DARLINGTON, EARL OF (SOUTH SHROPSHIRE).

THE EARL OF DARLINGTON, who has had a seat in Parliament, uninterruptedly, with the exception of the year 1831, for more than twenty years, generally votes with the Tory party, and opposed the first Reform Bill, although that measure had the support of his Lordship's father. The noble earl is the eldest son of William Harry Vane, Duke of Cleveland, by Lady Katherine Powlett, second daughter and co-heir of Harry, last Duke of Bolton, and lineally descends from Sir Harry Vane, who played so conspicuous a part in the troubled times of CHARLES I. The house of Vane possesses great estates in various parts of the kingdom, and the castle of Raby, the residence of the present duke, is one of the most splendid seats in the north. Lord Darlington was born Aug. 16, 1788, and married, in 1809, Lady Sophia Powlett, sister of John, Earl of Powlett, by whom he has no issue. (Raby Castle, Durham.)

DASHWOOD (WYCOMBE).

George Henry Dashwood, Esq. stood a contested election for Buckinghamshire a few years since, but was defeated by Mr. Harcourt, of Ankerwycke. The hon. gentleman's politics are Liberal. He is eldest son of Sir John Dashwood King, Bart. of West Wycombe, and nephew of Sir Francis Dashwood, who succeeded to the Barony of Le Despencer on the demise of his uncle John, Earl of Westmoreland, and subsequently filled the office of Chancellor of the Exchequer. Mr. Dashwood wedded, in 1823, his cousin Elizabeth, daughter of Theodore Henry Broadhead, Esq. One of his brothers, the Rev. Henry Dashwood, is married to Anne, sister of Mr. Leader, the member for Westminster. (West Wycombe, Bucks.)

DAVENPORT (STORE-UPON-TRENT).

JOHN DAVENPORT, Esq. of Westwood Hall, in the county of Stafford, was returned unopposed at the last general election, and usually acts with the Tory party.

DAVIES (WORCESTER).

THOMAS HENRY HASTINGS DAVIES, Esq. of Elmley Park, lieutenant-colonel in the army, was defeated in 1935 by Mr. Bailey, but regained his seat at the recent election. His sentiments have always been Whig. The gallant member, whose ancestors were in very early times seated in Montgomeryshire, is eldest son of the late Thomas Davies, Esq. Advocate-General to the East India Company, by Anna, daughter of Hugh Baillie, Esq. of Monkton, in Ayrshire. He married, Jan. 17, 1824, Augusta-Anne, only child of Thomas Crespigny, Esq. (Elmley Park. Worcester.)

DE HORSEY (Newcastle under Lyme)
(See Horsey).

DENISON (WEST SURREY).

WILLIAM JOSEPH DENISON, Esq. knight of the shire since 1818, is attached to the Whig party. He is brother to the dowager Marchioness of Conyngham, and son of the late Joseph Denison, Esq. who realised by commercial pursuits an immense fortune, and purchased great estates. The hom. member is a banker in London, and resides at Denbies, a beautiful seat in the neighbourhood of Dorking. (Denbys, near Dorking.)

DENNISTOUN (GLASGOW).

DENNISTOUN, Esq. a merchant in Glasgow, suc-Mr. Dunlop in the representation of Glasgow, prains ultra Liberal principles. He is a scion, we believe, of the ancient and eminent line of DENNIS-TOUN, of Dennistoun, one of the most distinguished families in the western districts of Scotland, in which, owing to the marriage of a female descendant with Robert II. is preserved the proud proverb, "Kings came of us, not we of kings." (Glasgow.)

D'EYNCOURT (LAMBETH).

THE RIGHT HON. CHARLES TENNYSON D'EYNCOURT, of Bayon's Manor, in the county of Lincoln, inherits considerable property from his father, the late George Tennyson, Esq.* of Usselby House, and has greatly increased his fortune by marriage with Frances-Mary, only child and heiress of the Rev. John Hutton, of Morton, in Lincolnshire. He represents an ancient family, and assumed the surname of D'Eyncourt in 1835, pursuant to his father's testamentary injunction, to commemorate his descent (through the Hildeyards) from that old baronial house. He is a barrister-at-law, and was, for a short time, clerk of the ordnance in 1831.

. The hon, member has had a seat in Parliament since 1818, and invariably acts with the extreme liberal party. He was born in 1784. (Bayon's Manor, Lincolnshire.)

DICK (MALDON).

QUINTIN DICK, Esq. who first sat in Parliament for West Looe in 1804, and has represented Maldon since 1830, is a merchant of great opulence in the city of London, and ' possesses landed property in Ireland. DOURO (Norwich).

THE MARQUIS OF DOURO, elder son of the Duke of Wellington, unsuccessfully contested Hampshire in 1833; at the recent election the contest 'for Norwich was most severe, and his Lordship was returned but by a small majority. His politics are Tory. The Marquis of Douro, who is a colonel in the army, was born Feb. 3, 1807. (Strathfieldsay, Hants.)

DOWDESWELL (TEWERSBURY).

WILLIAM DOWDESWELL, Esq. unsuccessfully contested the borough in 1832, but was returned in 1835, and at the last election. The family of Dowdeswell has been seated for more than two centuries in the county of Worcester, and its chiefs have frequently sat in Parliament for Tewkesbury. The hon member is the eldest son of John Edmund Dowdeswell, Esq. of Pull Court, the Master in Chancery, nephew of the late General Dowdeswell, and grandson of the Right Hon. William Dowdeswell, and grandson of the Right Hon. William Dowdeswell, and grandson of the Exchequer under the short-lived Rockingham administration, a statesman whose character Edmund Burke so beautifully delineated in the following words, "A senator for twenty years, a minister for one, a virtuous citizen for his whole life."

Mr. Dowdeswell advocates Tory measures. (Pull Court, near Tewkesbury.)

74 THE ASSEMBLED COMMONS: OR.

DUCKWORTH (LEICESTER).

DUFF (BANFESHIRE).

JAMES DUFF, Esq. of Delgaty Castle, in the county of Aberdeen, the new Whig member for Banffshire, is elder son of General the Hon. Alexander Duff, and nephew of the Earl of Fife, who is lord-lieutenant of the county. The noble family of Duff, one of great influence and note in North Britain, descends from Macduff, Thane of Fife, with whom the genius of Shakspeare has made every one familiar, as mainly contributing to the destruction of the usurper Macbeth, and to the restoration of Malcolm Ceanmohr. (Delguty Castle, Aberdeenshire.)

DUFFIELD (ABINGDON).

THOMAS DUFFIELD, Eq. of Marcham Park, Bucks, succeeded to the representation of this borough, upon the retirement of Mr. Maberly, in 1832, and vetes with the Tories. He is married to Miss Elwes, grand-daughter of John Elwes, so well known as Elwes the Miser, and so distinguished for integrity, generosity, and parsimony. That extraordinary person, as one of the Commons of England, in three successive Parliaments, maintained a conduct which purer times might have been glad to boast, and which later times may be proud to follow. (Marcham Park, near Abingdon.)

DUGDALE (NORTH WARWICKSHIRE).

WILLIAM STRATFORD DUGDALE, Esq. of Blythe Hall, a very influential landed proprietor in the county, is only son of the late Dugdale Stratford Dugdale, Esq. of Mere-vale Hall, and lineally descends from SIR WILLIAM DUCDALE, the calebrated antiquary and genealogist. The hon. member was born in 1801, and married, in 1827, Harriet-Ella, sister of Lord Portman.

The Dugdale family, one of high Tory principles, is connected with many leading houses, including those of Astley, Curson, Packe, and Dilke. (Blyth Hall, Warschkehire.)

DUKE (BOSTON).

Sir James Durk was chosen one of the sheriffs of London for the year 1836-7, and from that circumstance obtained the honour of knighthood. He sits for the first time in Parliament, and advocates Whig measures. The hongentleman, who has realized his fortune by commercial pursuits in the city of London, is a native of Montrose, and a near relative of Sir William Burnett, who also owes to his own indefatigable energy the honourable name he has acquired.

DUNCAN (SOUTHAMPTON).

VISCOUNT DUNCAN, the new member for Southampton, advocates liberal measures. He is elder son of the Earl of Camperdown, and grandson of Admiral Duncan, who achieved the splendid victory, from which the present peer derives his title. In politics his Lordship is a Whig. He was born March 25, 1812. (Camperdown, Forfarshire.)

DUNCOMBE (NORTH YORKSHIRE).

THE HON. WILLIAM DUNCOMEE is eldest son of Charles, present Lord Feversham, and first cousin to the Earl of Dartmouth. The noble family to which the hon. gentleman belongs, was originally named Brown; but having inherited the immense wealth of Sir Charles Duncombe, an eminent citizen of London, it assumed that of DUNCOMBE.

The hon. member was born Jan. 14, 1798, and married. in 1823, Louisa, third daughter of George, 8th Earl of Galloway. (Duncombe Park, Yorkshire.)

DUNCOMBE (EAST RETFORD).

THE HON. ARTHUR DUNCOMBE, Capt. R. N. lost his seat for this borough in 1830, owing to his opposition to the first Reform Bill, but regained it at the general election in 1835. He is brother of the, member for North Yorkshire, was born in 1806, and is unmarried. (Duncombe Park, Yorkshire.)

DUNLOP (AYRSHIRE).

JOHN DUNLOP, Esq. of Dunlop, captain in the army, formerly sat in Parliament for the Kilmarnock district of boroughs, and succeeded to the representation of Ayrshire upon the resignation of Mr. Oswald, of Auchencruive, in 1835. His politics are ultra-liberal. Capt. DunLoP is son of the late General Dunlop, twice M. P. for Kirkcudbright, son-in-law of the Earl of Rosebery, and chief of a very ancient Scottish family. To Mrs. Dunlop, of Dunlop, the bard of Ayrshire addressed several of his poems. (Dunlop, near Kilmarnock.)

EAST (WINCHESTER).

James Buller East, Esq. is the only son of the present Right Hon. Sir Edward Hyde East, Bart. formerly Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Judicature at Calcutta. The founder of the East family, holding the rank of captain in the army, joined the adventurers under Penn and Venables for the conquest of Jamaica, and obtained, soon after the Restoration, a grant from the Crown of a considerable estate in the island, which property has remained ever since with his descendants, and is now possessed by Sir Edward East. The noted "Hortus Eastensis," of which Bryan Edwards, in his History of Jamaica, has given a catalogue, was founded by a member of the East family.

The hon. member succeeded to the representation of Winchester, upon the retirement of his father in 1830, and acts with the Tory party. He was born Feb. 1, 1789, and married, in 1822, Caroline-Eliza, sister of Chandos Leigh, Eq. of Stoneleigh Abbey, in the county of Warrick. (Adlestrop House, near Chipping Norton.)

EASTHOPE (LEICESTER).

JOHN EASTHOPE, Esq. contested Southampton in 1835, but was defeated by Capt. Dottin. He had, we believe, a seat for Banbury in the Parliament which carried Reform, and advocates extremely liberal measures. The hongentleman, a native of Gloucestershire, was formerly an eminent stock-broker, but has retired from business. He is generally understood to be the principal proprietor of the "Morning Chronicle" newspaper. (Hillfield, Hampstead, Middlesex.)

EASTNOR, VISC. (REIGATE).

LOAD EASTNOR sat for Hereford from 1820 to 1832, and resides at Reigate Priory, in the vicinity of the borough which he now represents. He is the elder surviving son of John Somers Cocks, Earl Somers, lord-lieutenant of Herefordshire, and a lineal descendant (in the female line) of the celebrated Lord Chancello Somers, whom Horace Walpole styles "an uncorrupt lawyer, an honest statesman, a master crater, and a patriot of the noblest views."

Lord Eastnon was born March 19, 1788, and married, in 1815, Lady Caroline-Harriet Yorke, daughter of Philip, third Earl of Hardwicke, by whom he has several children.

EDWARDS (MONTGOMERY BOROUGEst).

JOHN EDWARDS, Esq. of Greenfields, sits for Montgomery , since 1832, and advocates Whig measures. He is son of the late John Edwards, Esq. and grandson of Humphrey Edwards, Esq. of Talgarth, in the county of Merioneth, by Cornelia, daughter and heir of Richard Owen, Esq. of Garth. The hon. member was born in 1770, and has been twice married; first, to Catherine, eldest daughter of Thomas Browne, Esq. of Mellington Hall; and secondly. to Harriet, widow of John Owen Herbert, Esq. of Dol-Worgan.

[•] His Lordship was elected for Devonshire in 1830, as well as for Tavistock, but made choice of the borough.
• From the year 1728 to the passing of the Reform Bill, Montgomery alone had the privilege of returning the member, but through the exertions of William Owen, Eaq. Of Gianaevern, a gentleman of ancient family in the county, distinguished by the public spirit, the elective franchise was restored, under that charter, to the contributory boroughs of Lianvyllin, Lianddies. and Weishpool.

EGERTON (SOUTH LANCASHIRE).

LORD FRANCIS EGRRTON, who is second surviving son of George, late Duke of Sutherland, acquired, while Lord Francis Leveson Gower, reputation in the literary world, and is author of a translation of Goethe. His present surname he assumed, in accordance with the testamentary injunction of his uncle, the celebrated Duke of Bridgewater, whose vast canal property, estimated at nearly 100,000l. a year, he inherits. The noble Lord was born Jan. 1, 1800, and is married to Harriet-Catherine, daughter of Chas. Fulke Greville, Eaq. of the Warwick family. He acts with the Tories, and held office as Chief Secretary for Ireland under the Duke of Wellington's ministry. (Oatlands, Surrey.)

EGERTON (North Cheshire).

WILLIAM TATTON EGERTON, Esq. eldest son of Colonel Wilbraham Egerton, of Tatton Park, formerly represented Lymington, but succeeded his father as knight of this shire in 1832. The family from which he descends, a branch of the noble house of Bridgewater, was founded by Sir Thomas Egerton, Baron Ellesmere, the celebrated Lord Chancellor; as a statesman, faithful and fearless; as a judge, impartial and incorrupt. Egertons possess considerable influence in the palatinate of Chester, and have been in Parliament for a long series of years. Their estates are very large, and Tatton Park, the splendid residence of Col. Egerton, is one of the most extensive in the kingdom. Mr. WILLIAM TATTON EGER-TON was born Dec. 30, 1806, and married, Dec. 18, 1830, Lady Charlotte-Elizabeth Loftus, eldest daughter of the Marquis of Ely. His politics are moderately Tory. (Tatton Park, near Knutsford.)

EGERTON (South Cheshire).

SIR PHILIP DE MALPAS GREY EGERTON, Bart. of Egerton and Oulton, is chief of the family of Egerton, one of the most ancient and distinguished in the county of Chester. His uncle, the late Sir John Egerton, succeeded to the old baronetcy of Egerton, upon the demise of Thomas, Earl of Wilton, in 1814, but leaving no issue himself, the title and estates devolved, at his decease, upon his brother, the Rev. Sir Philip Egerton, father of the member for South Cheshire.

The present Baronet was born Nov. 13, 1906, and married, in 1832, Anna-Elizabeth, daughter of George-John Legh, Esq. of High Legh. He is a Tory. (Oulton Park, Cheshire.)

ELLICE (COVENTRY).

THE RIGHT HON. EDWARD ELLICE, of Horsley Park, formerly an eminent merchant in London, was first returned to Parliament in 1818, and has, since that period, been an active member of the Whig party. Under Lord Grey's administration, he held for a time the appointment of Secretary of the Treasury, and in 1833 succeeded Sir John Hobhouse at the War-office, but has since retired.

The hon. member married, in 1809, Lady Hannah Althea Bettesworth, youngest sister of the present Earl Grey, and has issue. (Horsley Park, near Guildford.)

ELLICE (St. Andrew's, &c.)

EDWARD ELLICE, Esq. jun. son of Mr. Ellice, the member for Coventry, unsuccessfully contested Inverness in 1835, but was returned for St. Andrew's at the recent election, after rather a severe contest with T. ELIOT (CORNWALL, E.)

Lorn Eliot is only son of the Earl of St. Germans, by Lady Georgiana-Augusta Leveson Gower, sister of the late Duke of Sutherland. His grandfather, Edward Lord Eliot, was knight for Cornwall previously to his elevation to the peerage, and the same county at a very eventful period returned to Parliament another of his ancestors, Sir John Eliot, of Port Eliot, the celebrated Roundhead of the time of Charles I. Lord Eliot was born August 29, 1798, and married, in 1825, Lady Jemima Cornwallis, daughter of Charles, last Marquess of Cornwallis, by whom he has several children. His Lordship was elected for Cornwall at the head of the poll, displacing, after a severe contest, the old member, Sir Harry Trelawney; and acts with the Tory party. (Port Eliot, near St. Germans.)

ELLIOTT (Rox Burghshire).

THE HON. JOHN-EDMUND ELLIOTT, the new member for Roxburghshire, is third son of the Earl of Minto, by Anna-Maria, his wife, daughter of Sir George Amyand, Bart.; and grandson of Sir Gilbert Elliott, who filled several high official situations, and was, at one time, a candidate for the Speaker's chair. Sir Gilbert possessed considerable literary attainments, and his celebrated song, "My sheep I neglected, I broke my sheephook," evinced poetical abilities of no ordinary description. Another distinguished member of the family of Elliott, from whom the name derives imperishable renown, was Gen. Elliott, the heroic defender of Gibraltar, who maintained his station upon the rock for three years of uninterrupted investment, in which the whole resources of Spain were employed, and eventually preserved to his country that most important settlement. The member for Roxburghshire was born 30th March, 1783, and married 3rd Oct., 1809, Amelia, daughter of James Henry Cassamajor, Esq. of Madras, by whom he has four sons and two daughters. His politics are Whig. (Minto Castle, Roxburghshire.)

^{*} His Lordship married Catherine, only daughter and helv of EAward Elliston, Esq. of South Weald, in Essex, and cousin to Globon the historian.

SIR WILLIAM RICHARD POWLETT GEARY, Bt. of Oxenheath, is son of the late Sir William Geary, member in several parliaments for Kent, and grandson of Admiral Geary, a gallant naval officer, who was created a Baronet in 1782. The late Sir William Geary inherited, by gift from his uncle, Leonard Bartholomew, Esq. the mansion and estate of Oxenheath, for ages the residence of the great Kentish family of Cullpeper. The Member for Kent was born in 1810, and married, in 1835, Louisa, daughter of the late Hon. Charles Andrew Bruce, son of the 5th Earl of Elgin. He is returned on the Tory interest.

The hon baronet, beside possessing estates in Kent, is a considerable landed proprietor in the county of Wexford. (Oxenheath, Kent.)

GIBSON (IPSWICH).

THOMAS GIBSON, Esq. of Theberton, was returned after a very severe contest, displacing Mr. Rigby Wason, by a very small majority, and is of the Tory party. The hon. member, a country gentleman of hereditary property, married Arethusa-Susannah, only child of the Rev. Sir Thomas Gery Cullum, Bart. of Hawstead, and acquired thereby a great accession of fortune. (Theberton, Suffolk)

GIBSON (BELFAST.)

JOHN GIRSON, Esq. barrister-at-law, in conjunction with Lord Belfast, opposed the re-election of the former members, Mesers. Dunbar and Emerson Tennent, and succeeded in defeating them after one of the severest contests on record. The hon. gentleman's politics are Whig. (Belfast.)

GILLON (LINLITHGOW BURGHS).

WILLIAM DOWNE GILLON, Esq. of Wallhouse, in the county of Linlithgow, an estate possessed by his ancestors for several centuries, and of Hurstmonceaux, Sussex, a landed and West India proprietor, is only son of the late Lieut.-Col. Andrew Gillon, by Mary-Anne, daughter of William Downe, Esq. of Downe Hall, in Dorsetshire. He was born Aug. 31, 1801, and married, in 1820, Miss Ellen-Eliza Scott, of Synton, in Selkirkshire, by whom he has two sons and three daughters.

The hon. gentleman is of extremely Liberal principles (Wallhouse, Linlithgowshire.)

GLADSTONE (NEWARK).

WILLIAM EWART GLADSTONE, Esq. brother of Thomas Gladstone, Esq. of Fettercairn, the late member for Leicester, and younger son of Mr. Gladstone, the eminent merchant of Liverpool, has represented Newark on Tory principles since 1832, and took office under the administration of Sir Robert Peel, first as a Lord of the Treasury, and subsequently as Under Secretary for the Colonial Department.

GLYNNE (FLINTSHIRE).

SIR STEPHEN RICHARD GLYNNE, Bt. of Hawarden Castle, an influential landed proprietor in the county of Plint, lineally descends from Sir John Glynne, sergeant-at-law, an eminent crown lawyer and politician in the reign of Charles I. who accepted the lord chief justiceship during the usurpation, but made his peace with the restored monarch, and received the honour of knighthood. The member for Flintshire, who was born in 1807, is son of the late Sir Stephen Richard Glynne, Bt. and nephew to Lord Braybrooke. His principles are moderately Tory. (Hawarden Castle, Flintshire.)

100 THE ASSEMBLED COMMONS; OR,

GODDARD (CRICKLADE).

Ambrose Goddard, Esq. of Swindon, formerly Capt. 16th Hussars, is eldest surviving son of the late Ambrose Goddard, Esq. M.P. for Wiltshire from 1772 to 1806, and the descendant of an influential family in that county. The hon. gentleman was born in 1779, and married, in 1818, Jessy-Dorothea, daughter of Sir Thomas Lethbridge, Bt. His politics are Tory. (The Lawn, Swindon.)

GODSON (KIDDERMINSTER).

RICHARD GODSON, Esq. M.A. was returned for Kidderminster in 1832, defeated by Mr. Philips in 1835, but re-chosen at the last election. His politics are Tory. The hon. gentleman was called to the bar in 1821, and practises on the Oxford circuit.

GORDON (ABERDEENSHIRE).

THE HON. WILLIAM GORDON, Capt. R.N., next brother of the present Earl of Aberdeen, has had a seat for the county since 1820, and acts with the Tories. He was born in 1785, and is unmarried. The Gordons of Haddo, from whom the hon, member descends, and who derive from a common ancestor with the Ducal House of Gordon, have for ages taken a prominent part in the public affairs of Scotland. They attained the peerage in 1682, when Sir George Gordon, an eminent lawyer, who was nominated one of the senators of the College of Justice in 1680, president of the session in 1681, and Lord High Chancellor of Scotland in the following year, was created Baron Haddo, Viscount Formantine, and Earl of Aberdeen. His lordship, owing to a difference of opinion with his colleagues of the privy council, resigned the chancellorship in 1684, and retired to the country at the period of the Revolution, to avoid taking the oaths and his seat in parliament. He subsequently opposed the union, but did not attend at the final settlement of the measure. (Minories. Aberdeenshire.)

GORDON (WINDSOR).

ROBERT GORDON, Esq. of Lewston House, in Dorsetshire, and of Kemble House, Gloucestershire, who represented the borough of Cricklade since 1807, but was defeated at the last election, sits for the first time for Windsor, and is of the Whig section of the House. On the accession of that party to power in 1935, he was appointed secretary of the board of control. He is son of the late William Gordon, Esq., a merchant at Bristol, and married to a daughter of C. Westley Coxe, Esq. (Kemble House, Gloucestershire.)

GORE (NORTH SHROPSMIRE).

WILLIAM ORMSEY GORE, Esq. of Porkington, in Salop, of Glynn, in Merionethshire, and of Willowbrook, in Sligo, formerly sat in Parliament for Leitrim, a county his family represented for more than a hundred years. He is by birth an Irishman, son of the late William Gore, Esq. of Woodford, and descends from a common ancestor with the Earl of Arran, and Col. Gore Langton, M.P. for Somersetshire. The hon. gentleman married, in 1815, Mary-Jane, daughter and heiress of Owen Ormsby, Esq. of Willowbrook, in Sligo, the wealthy heiress of the Owens of Porkington in Shropshire, and hence arises his influence in that county.

The hon. member is of the high Tory party. (Porkington, Salop.)

GORE (CARNARYONSHIRE).

JOHN RALPH ORMSEY GORE, Esq., the new member for Carnarvonshire, is son of Mr. Ormsby Gore, knight of the shire for Salop, and like that gentleman acts with the Tories. Maternally he descends from the old Welch family of Owen of Clenency, which possessed great estates in Carnarronshire from a very early period. The hon gentleman was born June 3, 1816. (Porkington, Salop.)

102 THE ASSEMBLED COMMONS; OR,

CORING (SHOREHAM).

HARRY DENT GORING, Esq. is eldest son of Sir Charles Forster Goring, Bart. of Highden, in Sussex, and grandson of Sir Harry Goring, by his first wife, Miss Forster (a legatee and relative of Gray, the poet), only child of Governor Forster, of Fort William, in Bengal. He was born in 1802, and is married to Augusta, daughter of John Harvey, Esq. of Thorpe, in Norfolk. His politics are Whig. (Highden, Sussex.)

GOULBURN (UNIVERSITY OF CAMBRIDGE).

THE RIGHT HON. HENRY GOULBURN, member for the University of Cambridge, holds a distinguished place among the Tories, and during his party's tenure of office, was successively Secretary for Ireland, Under Secretary for the Colonies, Chancellor of the Exchequer, and Secretary of State for the Home Department. His first election for the university occurred in 1831, when, in conjunction with Mr. Yates Peel, he succeeded in de-· feating Lords Palmerston and Cavendish, in consequence of the support those noblemen had given to the Reform Bill. The right hon. gentleman, the son of Munbee Goulburn, Esq. of Portland Place, by the hon. Susan Chetwynd, aunt of the present Viscount Chetwynd, was born in 1784, and married in 1811 the hon. Jane Montague, third daughter of Lord Rokeby, by whom he has issue. His brother Edward Goulburn, Esq., Serjeant-atlaw, formerly a Welsh Judge, sat in the last parliament for Leicester, but was defeated at the recent election.

GRANBY (STAMFORD).

THE MARQUIS OF GRANSY, new member for Stamford, is eldest son of the Duke of Rutland, nephew to the Earl of Carlisle, and great-grandson of the nobleman who attained, under the title his lordship bears, such high asilitary reputation, as Commander in Chief of the Antick Porces, serving under Prince Ferdinand in Germany. The house of Rutland possesses great estates and commensurate influence in Leicestersbire, of which county the present duke is lord-lieutenant and custos rotulorum. The politics of the family are Tory. (Belvoir Castle, Leicestersbire.)

GRANT (Counties of Elgin and Nairn).

THE HON FRANCIS WILLIAM GRANT, lord-lieutenant of Inverness-shire, and colonel of that county's militia, is son of the late Sir James Grant, Bart. of Grant, and brother and heir presumptive of Lewis Alexander, present Earl of Seafield. He was born in 1778, and married in 1811 Mary-Anne, only daughter of John-Charles Dunn, Esq., by whom he has several children. The earldom of Seafield was obtained by the hon member's ancestor, James, 4th Earl of Findlater, a lawyer of great eminence at the Scottish bar, to whom and his heirs general that peerage was granted in 1701. His lordship made a motion in the House of Lords, 1st June, 1713, for leave to bring in a bill to repeal the union with Scotland, which was refused by a majority of four only. The peers present, 108, were equally divided; and the proxies 13 for, and 17 against.

Colonel GRANT has represented the counties of Elgin and Nairn since 1807, and is of the Tory party. (Cullenhouse, Inverness-shire.)

GRATTAN (COUNTY OF WICKLOW).

JAMES GRATTAN, Esq. of Tinnehinch, is eldest son of the celebrated patriot, statesman, and orator, HENRY GRATTAN, whose name will live in his native land while one single heart's blood warms one single bosom there!

Ever-glorious Grattan! the best of the good! So simple in heart, so sublime in the rest! With all which Demosthenes wanted endurd, And his rival or victor in all he possess'd.

Ere Tully arose in the zenith of Rome,
Though unequall'd, preceded, the task was begun—
But Gratten aprung up like a god from the tomb
Of ages, the first, last, the Saviour, the one!—Byrow.

The hon. member is first cousin to Chief Justice Bushe, and was born in 1783. He held formerly a commission in the army, and served at Walcheren and in the Peninsula. He advocates Whig principles, and has had a seat in Parliament for Wicklow since 1820, supported by the influence of Lord Fitzwilliam, who possesses great estates in the county. (Timnehinch, near Bray.)

GRATTAN (MEATH).

HENRY GRATTAN, Esq., barrister-at-law, is brother of the member for Wicklow, and married to the daughter of Mr. Harvey, proprietor of the Freeman's Journal, with whom he acquired a considerable accession of fortune. In 1826 Mr. Grattan was elected for the city of Dublin; but defeated by Mr. Shaw, in 1830, he remained out of Parliament until returned in 1832 by the county of Meath, which he still represents. His politics are extremely Liberal. (Mograth, in the county of Meath.)

GREENAWAY (LEOMINSTER).

CHARLES GREENAWAY, Esq. of Barrington Grove, and Burford Priory, sits for the first time in Parliament, and acts with the Whigs. He is a considerable landowner in the counties of Gloucester, Oxford, and Northampton, and son and heir of the late Giles Greenaway, Esq., who was high-sheriff in the first named county in 1764. He married, May 3, 1813, Charlotte-Sophia, youngest daughter of Robert Hurst, Esq. of Horsham Park, Sussex, M.P. (Barrington Grove, near Burford.)

GREENE (LANCASTER).

THOMAS GREENE, Esq. of Whittington-hall, in Westmoreland, and of Slyne, in Lancashire, descends from a respectable family, possessed for ages of the latter estate, and enjoys considerable landed property. He served as high-sheriff for Lancashire in 1823, and was first returned for the borough in the following year. He is a smoderate Tory.

The hon. gentleman was born in 1794, and married in 1820, Henrietta, third daughter of the late Right Hon. Sir Henry Russell, Bart., by whom he has three sons and two daughters. (Whittington Hall, Burton, Westmoreland.)

GREY (DEVONPORT).

SIR GEORGE GREY, Bart. barrister-at-law, succeeded Mr. Shaw Lefevre as under secretary for the colonies in 1834, and resumed his official appointment upon the return of the Whigs to power in 1835. judgment. The hon, gentleman is eldest son of the late George Grote, Esq. high-sheriff for Kent in 1800, and descends from an ancient Livonian family (of which the celebrated Hugo Grotius was a member), established in England, in 1740, by Andrew Grote, Esq. who married an heiress named Adams, and acquired with her estates in Oxfordshire, still held by his descendant.

Mr. Grorz was born in 1794, and married, in 1820, Harriet, second daughter of Thomas Lewin, Esq. of the Hollies, by Mary, daughter of General Hale, of Guisborough, but has no issue.

GUEST (MERTHYR TYDVIL).

JOSIAH JOHN GUEST, Esq. of Dowlais House, Glamorganshire, formerly M.P. for Honiton, is a banker and iron master at Merthyr Tydvil. He advocates Reform in all its branches, and is in favour of the ballot, free trade, and a commutation of tithes. He formerly represented Honiton, and at the recent election stood an unsuccessful contest for Glamorganshire. The hon, gentleman is married to Lady Charlotte-Elizabeth Bertie, sister of the Earl of Lindsey. (Dowlais House, Merthyr Tydvil.)

HALE (WEST GLOUCESTERSHIRE).

ROBERT BLAGDEN HALE, Esq. of Alderley, succeeded to the representation of this county at the vacancy caused by the death of the Duke of Beaufort, which event raised the Marquis of Worcester to the peerage. The hon member is a landed proprietor, and a lineal descendant of the celebrated lawyer, Sir Matthew Hale. His sentiments are Tory. (Alderley, Gloucestershire.)

HALFORD (South Leicestershire).

HENRY HALPORD, Esq. an officer in the army, has represented the county since 1832, and acts with the Torice. He is nephew of Mr. Baron Vaughan, and only son of &

Henry Halford, Bart. of Wistow Hall, the very eminent physician, by the Hon. Elizabeth-Barbara St. John. Sir Henry Halford, whose patronymic is Vaughan, inherited at the decease of the late Countess of Denbigh the estates of his kinsman Sir Charles Halford, Bart, and assumed the surname of Halford. His father, James Vaughan, of Leicester, was also a physician. He left several children: the eldest is the present Sir Henry Halford, Bart.; the second is Sir John Vaughan, one of the barons of the Exchequer; and the fourth son is Sir Charles Vaughan, a distinguished diplomatist. The hon. member for Leicestershire was born in 1798, and is married to his cousin, Barbara, daughter of the Baron of the Exchequer. (Newton Harcourt, Leicestershire.)

HALL (MARYLABONNE).

Benjamin Hall, Esq. of Abercarne, defeated the Marquis of Worcester at Monmouth in 1832, and continued to represent that borough until the dissolution of the late Parliament. At the recent election he addressed the electors of Marylabonne to supply the place of Mr. Henry Bulwer, and was returned after a very severe contest with Lord Teigmnouth. He is an ultra Reformer, advocating the ballot, short parliaments, and a property tax. His grandfather, the Rev. Benjamin Hall, was chancellor of the diocese of Landaff, and his father, the late of the diocese of Landaff, and his father, the late of Glamorgan. The latter died in 1817, and shortly after the gentlemen of the county he represented erected a monument to commemorate the high sense they bore of his merits.

The member for Marylabonne, who was born Nov. 8, 1802, married, in 1823, the daughter and co-heiress of Benjamin Waddington, Esq. of Llanover Court, and acquired with her an accession of fortune. (Abercarne, near Newport.)

IRVING (COUNTY OF ANTRIM).

JOHN IRVING, Esq. of Maheramourne House, in the county he for the first time represents, is a merchant of high respectability in the city of London, of the firm of

Reid, Irving, and Co. His politics are Tory. In several parliaments preceding the passing of Reform, Mr. Irving sat for the borough of Bramber. (Ashford, near Staines.)

IRTON (WEST'CUMBERLAND).

SAMUEL IRTON, Esq. of Irton, the descendant of one of the oldest families in the north, resident in Cumberland from a period antecedent to the Conquest, is eldest son of the late Edmund Lamplugh Irton, Esq., and great-grandson of George Irton, Esq. of Irton, who served the office of sheriff for Cumberland in 1733. He was born in 1796, and married, July 25, 1825, Eleanor, daughter of Joseph Tiffin Senhouse, Esq. of Calder Abbey.

He acts with the Tories. (Irton Hall, beautifully situated on the river Irt, Cumberland.)

JACKSON (BANDON).

Joseph Devonsher Jackson, Esq., now for the second time in parliament, on the Tory interest, is son of the late Mr. Strettle Jackson, a landwaiter in Cork, and was born in that city. His family was originally Quaker. The learned gentleman, on marrying Miss Clarke, sister to Mr. Faithful Clarke, took a share in the latter's business and manufactory in Dublin, but was unfortunate in trade. He subsequently (in 1806) was called to the bar, and soon distinguished himself as an acute and industrious lawyer. During Lord Haddington's short administration, he became second serjeant-at-law.

WILLIAM JAMES, Esq. of Barrock Lodge, was first returned for the eastern division of the county, on the vacancy caused by Mr. Blamire's appointment as chief tithe commissioner in 1836, and re-chosen at the last election. His politics are extremely Liberal. The homogenteman is grandson of William James, Esq., an eminent West India merchant at Liverpool, and son of William James, Esq. of the same place, by Elizabeth, eldest.

daughter of Nicholas Ashton, Esq. of Woolton Hall, in Lancashire. Mr. Ashton's wife was heiress and representative of the ancient family of Warburton, of Hefferton Grange (a younger branch of the Arley Warburtons), and a descendant of Judge Warburton, and of the celebrated Dr. Matthew Henry. Mr. James is brother-in-law of Fergus Graham, Esq., (cousin to Sir James Graham), step-son of Colonel Williams, ex-member for Ashton, and nearly connected with Mr. Ashton Yates, and Mr. Ewart of Liverpool. He married, in 1816, Fanny, daughter of W. C. Rutson, Esq. of Allerton Lodge, and has issue. (Barrock Lodge, Cumberland.)

Minister-Plenipotentiary to the Netherlands, and succeeded to the baronetcy upon the demise of his grandfather, Sir Walter James James, Bart., in 1829. The hon. gentleman's mother is sister of the Marquis of Londonderry, and now wife of Sir Henry Hardinge. Sir Walter was born in 1816. (Langley Hall, Berkshire.)

JENKINS (SHREWSBURY).

RICHARD JENKINS, Esq. of Bicton Hall, represented Shrewsbury in the two first parliaments of the late reign—did not offer himself in 1835, but at the recent election was returned at the head of the poll. His politics are Tory. He was for many years a confidential diplomatic servant of the East India Company, and is now one of the Directors. The family of Jenkins has been at Shrewsbury for nearly two centuries. The honmember is elder son of the late Richard Jenkins, Esq. of Bicton, by Harriet-Constantia, daughter of George Ravenscroft, Esq. of Hexham; was born Feb. 18, 1785; and married, March 31, 1824, Elizabeth-Helen, daughter of Hagh Spottiswoode, Esq. (Abbey House, Shrewsbury.)

JEPHSON (MALLOW).

CHARLES DENHAM OBLANDO JEPHSON, Esq. of Mallow Castle, in the county of Cork, descends from an ancient family originally seated at Froyle in Hampshire, which became established in Ireland in the seventeenth century, owing to the marriage of Sir John Jephson, knight of the shire for Hants, with the daughter and heiress of Sir Thomas Norris, lord president of Munster, the possessor of the Mallow estate now enjoyed by the houmember. Since their establishment in the sister island, the Jephsons have maintained a high rank among the landed proprietors of that kingdom, and have constantly sat in parliament for Mallow.

Mr. Jephson always acts with the Whigs. He was born in 1799, and married, in 1830, the daughter of William Franks, Eq. of Carrig. (Mallow Castle, county of Cork.)

JERMYN, EARL (BURY ST. EDMUND'S).

LORD JERMYN, member on Tory principles for this borough since 1830, is the eldest son of Frederick-William Hervey, Marquis of Bristol, and grandson of the late Bishop of Derry. The noble family of Hervey possesses large landed property in Suffolk, and Ickworth,* its splendid residence there, has just been completed in a style of great magnificence, the late Earl of Bristol having desired the sum of £10,000 to be devoted annually towards its erection. Lord Jermyn was born July 15, 1800, and married Dec. 1, 1830, Lady Katherine-Isabella, daughter of John, present Duke of Rutland. (Ickworth Park, Sussex.)

^{*} Ickworth was originally acquired by Thomas Hervey, Eaq., in marriage with the daughter and beiress of the Drurys of Hawsted.

JERVIS (CHESTER).

JOHN JERVIS, Esq. of Beaumaris, in the county of Anglesea, a barrister, and author of several learned works on law, votes with the extreme Liberal section of the house, but opposes the ballot. He is second son of Thomas Jervis, K.C., late chief justice of Chester, and for many years counsel to the Admiralty, and represents a branch of Lord St. Vincent's family. He was born in 1802, and married, in 1824, Catherine, daughter of Alexander Mundell, Esq. (Beaumaris.)

JERVIS (BRIDPORT).

SWYNFEN JERVIS, Esq., a gentleman of large fortune, is of the same lineage as Lord St. Vincent, and cousin to the member for Chester. The family of Jervis has been long seated in the county of Stafford, and claims descent from Robert Gervays, of Chatkyll, living 18 EDWARD III. The hon, member is returned on the Whig interest.

JOHNSON (OLDHAM).

GENERAL JOHNSON, formerly member for Boston, and now for the first time returned by the borough of Oldham, acts with the extreme liberal party. MARSLAND (STOCKPORT).

MAJOR THOMAS MARSLAND, of Cheadle Moseley, Cheshire, has sat for Stockport since 1832, and is of the Tory party. (Cheadle Moseley.)

MARTIN (County of Galway).

THOMAS BARNEWALL MARTIN, Esq. of Ballinahinch Castle, son of the late eccentric Richard Martin, possesses in the county he represents estates which may be called a territory, but their value is by no means commensurate with their extent. They embrace an immense tract of mountain and arable land, produce very fine marble, and are remarkable for that wild race of hardy animals so well known as Connemara ponies. The hon. member has been in parliament since 1832, and supports the Whigs. (Ballinahinch Castle, near Cliften.)

MARTIN (TEWESBURY).

JOHN MARTIN, Esq. of Ledbury Hall, Herefordshire, and Overbury, in Worcestershire, Whig member for Tewkesbury, represents an opulent family, which has sat for that borough generation after generation. His grandfather. James Martin, Esq. of Overbury, who was returned by the same constituency more than half a century ago, was then a leading politician, well known as "Starling Martin," a sobriquet he obtained from his recommendation to the House of Commons of the purchase of a starling. to remind them of the coalition between North and Fox: when Lord North observed, that " the expense was unnecessary, since as long as there was a 'Martin' in the House, the subject would be brought sufficiently before them." The present member for Tewkesbury, a banker in London, is son of the late John Martin, Esq. M. P., and through his grandmother, Penelope Skipp, collaterally descends from Dr. Skipp, the first protestant Bishop of Hereford. "Starling" Martin had two sisters, one married to Dr. Nash, the county historian, the other to the excellent Dr. Heberden. (Overbury Hall, Worcestershire.)

MARTON (LANCASTER).

GEORGE MARTON, Esq., the new member for Lancaster, acts with the Tory party. He is son and heir of the late Lieutenant-Colonel George Richard Marton, of the Inniskillen Dragoons, grandson of the Rev. Oliver Marton, patron and vicar of Lancaster, and grand-nephew of Edward Marton, Esq. of Capernwray, who represented Lancaster many years ago.

The hon. gentleman, who is a magistrate and deputy-lieutenant for Lancashire, married, in 1833, Lucy Sarah, daughter of the Right Hon. Lord Chief Justice Dallas, and niece of Sir George Dallas, Bart. (Capernurgy Hall, near Lancaster.)

MASTER (CIRENCESTER).

THOMAS WILLIAM CHESTER MASTER, Esq., is eldest son of Col. William Chester Master of Knole Park, in the county of Gloucester, by Isabella-Margaret, his wife, daughter of the Hon. Stephen Digby, and lineally descends from Richard Master, physician of the chamber to Queen Richard Master, physician of the chamber to Queen RLIMABSTH, on whom her majesty bestowed the site of the dissolved abbey of Cirencester, which had reverted to the crown on the attainder of Lord Seymour. Since that period the Masters have possessed great influence in the borough, and frequently represented it in parliament. Sir William Master, M.P. for Cirencester in the reign of CHARLES I., was a distinguished and devoted Royalist.

The present member was born May 28, 1815. His politics are Tory. (Knowle Park, near Bristol.)

MAULE (CARLOW).

WILLIAM HENRY MAULE, Esq., one of her Majesty's counsel on the Oxford Circuit, represents Carlow on the Liberal interest, having defeated at the recent election Mr. Bruen, of Avondale, the former member. The learned gentleman, who received his education at the University of Cambridge, and became a fellow of Trinity College, was Senior Wrangler, and first Smith's Prizeman in 1810. He was called to the Bar in 1814, and obtained a silk gown in 1833.

MAUNSELL (North Northamptonshibe).

THOMAS PHILIP MAUNSELL, Esq. of Thorpe Malsor, a landed proprietor of fortune and family, first offered himself in 1835, a candidate, on Tory principles, for the Northern Division of the county, to supply the vacancy occasioned by the lamented death of Lord Milton, and was returned after a very severe struggle with William Hanbury, Esq. the present Lord Bateman. (Thorpe Malsor, Northamptonshire.)

MAXWELL (COUNTY OF CAVAN).

HENRY MAXWELL, Esq., has represented the county since 1834, and acts with the Tories. He is eldest son of the Rev. Henry Maxwell, by Lady Anne Butler, daughter of the second Earl of Carrick, grandson of Dr. Maxwell, Lord Bishop of Meath, and nephew and heir-presumptive of Lord Farnham. He was born in 1799, and married in December, 1828, the Hon. Anne-Frances Stapleton, daughter of the late Lord Le Despencer. (Farnham, near Cavan.)

MELGUND (HYTHE).

VISCOUNT MELGUND, member, on Whig principles, for the borough of Hythe, is son of the Earl of Minto, and nephew to the member for Roxburghshire. He was born March 9, 1814. (Minto Castle, Roxburghshire.)

MEYNELL (LISBURNE).

HENRY MEYNELL, Esq. of Hoar Cross, in Staffordshire, Captain R.N., who has sat for the borough he represents since 1826, and advocates Tory measures, is son of Hugo Charles Meynell, Esq. of Hoar Cross, high-sheriff of Staffordshire in 1826, and grandson of Hugo Meynell, Esq., by the Hon. Elizabeth Ingram, younger daughter and co-heir of Viscount Irwin. Lord Irwin's elder daughter married the late Marquis of Hertford, and thus Capt. Meynell is nearly related to the present Marquis, whose extensive property and powerful influence at Lisburne secure the election of his kinsman. The Hoar Cross branch of the ancient Norman family of Meynell was established by Francis Meynell, alderman and sheriff of London in the time of the Commonwealth, who realized a large fortune as a banker, and purchased considerable estates. (Hoar Cross, Stuffordshire.)

MILDMAY (WINCHESTER).

PAULET ST. JOHN MILDMAY, Esq., the Whig member for Winchester, is second son of the late Sir Henry Paulet St. John, Bart. of Dogmersfield Park, who married Jane, eldest daughter and co-heir of Carew Mildmay, Esq. of Shawford House, and assumed the surname of Mildmay, on inheriting the extensive estates of that distinguished family. Mr. Mildmay's eldest sister, Jane-Dorothea, is married to Paul Methuen, Esq. of Corsham. late knight of the shire for North Wilts, and the third, Judith-Anne, is present Countess of Radnor. The hon. gentleman's grandfather and great-grandfather both represented Hampshire in parliament, and the former was at one period returned by the city of Winchester. The present member married, in 1813, Anna-Maria, youngest daughter of the Hon, Bartholomew Bouverie, and has several children.

MILES (BRISTOL).

PHILIP WILLIAM SEYNNER MILES, Esq., is son of Philip John Miles, Esq. of Leigh Court, late M.P. for Bristol, and grandson of William Miles, who, as a merchant and banker, in that great trading city, acquired enormous wealth, and purchased large estates in Somersetshire. To her commercial men, such as the Miles's, Great Britain is indebted for her rank amongst nations: to commerce, that stupendous source of aggrandizement, is solely to be attributed the singular fact that an Island, comparatively unimportant, should become the arbitress of the civilized world. The property of Underdown, which Mr. P. J. Miles possesses, is inherited from the aucient family of Skynner of Ledbury, in the county of Hereford. (Leigh Court, a splendid, residence near Bristol.)

'MILES (EAST SOMERSETSHIRE).

WILLIAM MILES, Esq. of Kingsweston, brother of the member for Bristol, has for many years had a seat in parliament, and supports the Tory party. He was born in 1797, and is married to a daughter of John Gordon, Esq. (Kingsweston, near Bristol, built by Inigo Jones, formerly the residence of the Lords de Clifford.)

MILLER (NEWCASTLE-UNDER-LYNE).

WILLIAM HENRY MILLER, Esq. of Craigentinny, in the county of Midlothian, and of Britwell House, Bucks, is returned for this borough, through the influence of his uncle Mr. Christy, an extensive manufacturer at Newcastle. He has been in parliament since 1830, and advocates Tory measures. His ancestors were in former times gardeners to the kings of Scotland.

MILNES (PONTEFRACT).

RICHARD MONCKTON MILNES, Esq. of Fryston, represents Pontefract on the Tory interest. The family of Milnes is of consideration in Yorkshire, and the Fryston branch inherits the estates of the ancient house of Rhodes, of Great Houghton, acquired by Francis Rhodes, a learned judge in the 16th century. The hon. gentleman's father, Robert Pemberton Milnes, Esq. of Fryston Hall (who married a sister of the late Lord Galway), and his grandfather, Richard Slater Milnes, Esq. of Great Houghton, both sat in parliament, the former for Pontefract, the latter for the city of York. (Fryston Hall, near Pontefract.)

MILTON (MALTON).

VISCOUNT MILTON, son of Earl Fitzwilliam, and nephew to Lord Dundas, stood at the last election an unsuccessful contest for the 'Northern division of Northamptonshire, but was returned unopposed by the borough he represents, where the influence of his family is considerable. He entertains Whig opinions. His lordship was born Oct. 12, 1815. (Wentworth House, near Rotherham.)

MONYPENNY (ROCHESTER).

THOMAS GYBBON MONYPENNY, Esq. of Rolvenden, a country gentleman of fortune, sits for the first time in parliament and acts with the Tory party. The Monypennys descend from an ancient Scottish race long seated at Pitmilly, of which was David Monypenny, Lord Pitmilly, one of the lords of session. The first that settled in Kent was James Monypenny, who purchased the manor of Great Maytham, in that county, and married a Kentish lady, Mary, daughter of Robert Gybbon, Esq. of the same family as the historian. (Rolvenden, to Rose.)

MOLESWORTH (LEEDS).

SIE WILLIAM MOLESWORTH, Bart. of Pencarrow, a great landed proprietor, and the descendant of an old Cornish family, members of which have frequently sat in parliament, was first elected for East Cornwall, in 1832, and continued to represent it until the late dissolution. At the election which ensued, Sir William did not again offer himself for that county, deeming his political views more enlarged than those of his constituents, but stood and was returned for Leeds.

His politics are extremely Liberal. He was born in 1810, and is unmarried. (Pencarrow, Cornwall.)

MORDAUNT (South WARWICKSHIRE).

SIR JOHN MORDAUNT, Bart., whose father, grandfather, great-grandfather, and great-grandfather, have in succession sat for Warwickshire, represents a junior branch of the ancient family of Mordaunt of Turvey, of which the Earl of Peterborough was so conspicuous a member. He is only son of the late Sir Charles Mordaunt, Bart., M.P., by Mies Holbech, his wife, daughter of William Holbech, Esq. of Farnborough; was born Aug. 24, 1808; and married, in 1834, Caroline-Sophia, second daughter of Dr. Murray, Bishop of Rochester. His politics are Tory. (Walton D'Evile, Warwick-shire.)

MORETON (EAST GLOUCESTERSHIRE).

THE HON. AUGUSTUS HENRY MORETON, second son of Thomas, Earl of Ducie, and nephew to the late Earl of Carnaryon, advocates Whig measures. He was born June 24, 1804, and married Aug. 15, 1837, Miss Macdonald, eldest daughter of the late Sir Charles Macdonald Leckhart, Bt. of Lee and Carnwath. The noble house to which the hon. member belongs, owes its original rise and forcame to the success of a citizen of London, Sir Robert Ducke knt., lord mayor in 1631, who, although he lost £80,000 by King Charles I., is said to have died worth £400,000. (Tortworth, Gloucestershire.)

MORGAN (BRECON).

CHARLES MORGAN ROBINSON MORGAN, Esq. of Ruperra, is elder son of Sir Charles Gould Morgan, a very opulent 'baronet, and grandson of Dr. Charles Gould, an eminent civilian, Judge Advocate, and Judge Martial of the Forces, who assumed the surname of Morgan on inheriting the great estates of his brother-in-law, John Morgan, Esq. of Ruperra. The member for Brecon was born in 1792, and married, in 1827, Rosamond, only daughter of General Mundy. He acts with the Tories. (Ruperra, Glamorganshire.)

MORPETH, VISC. (WEST RIDING OF YORKSHIRE).

LORD MORPETH, Chief Secretary to the lord-lieutenant of Ireland, is the eldest son of the present Earl of Carlisle, nephew of the Duke of Devonshire, and grandson of Frederick, Lord Carlisle, the kinsman and guardian of Lord Byron. With a splendour of descent almost unequalled, in possession of the highest honours and of abundant wealth, his lordship has never relaxed in his efforts to deserve reputation by his personal worth. After a brilliant university career, Lord Morpeth entered upon public life, and has acquired fame in both the literary and political world. His direct ancestor, the celebrated Earl of Surrey, a poet of taste and refinement, at a period when our literature was rude and barbarous, married the Lady Frances Vere, daughter of John Earl of Oxford, and had a son, Thomas, 4th Duke of Norfolk, who left three sons, Philip, progenitor of the ducal house, Thomas Earl of Suffolk, and William, from whom descend the Earl of Carlisle, and the Howards of Corby Castle.

Lord MORPETH Was born April 18, 1802. (Castle Howers, Yorkshire.)

MORRIS (CARMARTHEN).

DAVID MORRIS, Esq., the new member for Carmarthen, is a banker in the borough he represents. His politics are Whig. (Carmarthen.)

MURRAY (LEITE).

THE RIGHT HON. JOHN ARCHIBALD MURRAY, the Lord Advocate, was for many years before he entered Parliament a conspicuous politician in the North, and, in conjunction with Francis Jeffery and John Clark, a principal promoter, by his speeches and writings, of liberal opinions in Scotland. The learned gentleman, second son of the late Alexander Murray, of Henderland, lord of session and justiciary, by Catherine, daughter of Sir Alexander Lindsay, Bart. of Evelick, is about fifty years of age, and married, in 1826, the eldest daughter of the late William Rigby, Esq. of Oldfield Hall, in Cheshire.

MUSKETT (St. ALBAN'S).

GEORGE ALFRED MUSERTT, Esq. represents St. Alban's, for the first time, and advocates liberal measures. He is a banker in that town; was born in 1786, and married in 1808. (The Bury, Rickmansworth.)

NAGLE (COUNTY OF WEST MEATH).

SIR RICHARD NAGLE, Bart. of Jamestown House, son and successor of the late Sir Richard Nagle, by Maty-Bridget, his second wife, daughter and sole heiress of Owen Geoghegan, Esq. of Rosemount, is an ultra Liberal, and was dismissed from the magistracy for having presided, when high-sheriff, at an anti-tithe meeting. He was born Aug. 12, 1800. (Jamestown Castle, near KN-beggan.)

His politics are Tory. (Grittleton House, near Chippenham.)

NEELD (CRICKLADE).

JOHN NEELD, Esq. of the Middle Temple, sits for the second time in Parliament, and professes the same political sentiments as his brother, the member for Chippenham. (Red Lodge, Witts.)

NICHOLL (CARDIFF).

JOHN NICHOLL, Esq. of Christchursh College, Oxford, was called to the bar in 1824, and taking the degree of Doctor of Laws, was admitted an advocate at Doctors' Commons in 1826. He is only son of the Right Hon. Sir John Nicholl, of Merthymawr, in Glamorganshire, Judge of the Arches Court, and cousin of Iityd Nicholl, Esq. of Lanmaes, her Majesty's Procurator General. The member for Cardiff married, in December, 1821, Jane-Hariot, second daughter of the late T. M. Talbot, Esq. of Margam, in Glamorganshire, and grand-daughter of the second Earl of lichester.

A CONTRACTOR OF THE PARTY OF TH

His politics are Tory. (Merthymaur, near Cardiff.)

NOEL (RUTLANDSHIRE).

SIE GERARD NOEL NOEL, Bart. of Exton Park, father of Lord Barham, and only son of Gerard Anne Edwards,*

Mr. Edwards was natural son of Lord Anne Hamilton, third son of James, fourth Duke of Hamilton.

Esq. of Welham Grove, in Leicestershire, succeeded to his title upon the demise of his father-in-law, Sir Charles Middleton, Baron Barham, and relinquished his paternal surname for that of his maternal uncle, Henry Noel, Earl of Gainsborough, whose estates he inherited. The hon. member represents the county since 1812, and is a moderate Whig. He was born in 1759, and has been thrice married; first, to Diana, Baroness Barham; secondly, to Harriet, daughter of the Rev. J. Gill, of Scraptoft; and thirdly, to Mrs. Isabella Evans Raymond. (Exton Park, near Stamford.)

NORREYS (Oxfordshire).

LORD NORREYS, son of Montagu Bertie, Earl of Abingdon, lord-lieutenant of Berkshire, lineally descends from Sir Henry Norris, the guiltless and ill-fated victim of the jealousy of Henry VIII. His lordship was born in 1808, and married, in 1835, Elizabeth-Lavinia, only child of his colleague, George Granville Harcourt, Esq. of Nuneham-Courtenay.

The politics of LORD NORREYS are Tory. (Wytham Abbey, Berks.)

NORTHLAND (Dungannon).

Viscount Northland is eldest son of the Earl of Ranfurly, and grandson, maternally, of Edmund, Viscount Pery, for several years Speaker of the Irish House of Commons. The family of Knox, of which his lordship is the heir, is of Scottish origin, and in its lineage is to be found the name of John Knox, the reformer. The son of the first settler in Ireland, Thomas Knox, Esq. represented Dungannon in Parliament, and from his time the Knoxes have retained paramount influence in the borough, in the vicinity of which they reside. Lord Northland was born April 19, 1786, and married. Lord Northland was born April 19, 1786, and married. The College of the late of the political sentiments of the Knox family are in general Whig, but the present member for Dungannon is of the moderate Tory party. (Dungannon, in the county of Tyrone.)

O'BRIEN (COUNTY OF CLARE).

CORNELIUS O'BRIEN, Esq. of Birchfield, a highly respectable solicitor, has been in parliament since 1832, and acts with the extreme Liberals. He married Margaret, widow of James O'Brien, Esq. daughter of Peter Long, Esq. of Waterford, and niece of William Roche, Esq. member for Limerick. (Birchfield, near Ennistimon.)

O'BRIEN (COUNTY OF LIMERICE).

WILLIAM SMITH O'BRIEN, Esq. of Carmoyhill, is second son of Sir Edward O'Brien, Bart. of Dromoland, and grandson of the Right Hon. Sir Lucius O'Brien, Clerk of the Crown and Hanaper, and for many years member for the county of Clare. His mother was daughter and co-heiress of William Smith, Esq. an eminent attorney, who left a fortune of £250,000. The hon. gentleman was born Oct. 17, 1803, and is married to a daughter of Alderman Gabbett, of Limerick. He acts with the Whigs. (Carmoyhill, in the county of Limerick.)

O'CALLAGHAN (DUNGARVON).

THE HON. CORNELIUS O'CALLAGHAN, elder son of Lord Lismore (one of the largest landed proprietors in Tipperary), by Eleanor, his wife, youngest daughter of John, Rarl of Ormonde, represented a few years since his native county, and has always acted with the Whig party. His influence at Dungarvon arises from his connexion with the Duke of Devonshire—the hon. gentleman's grandmother, the late Lady Lismore, being niece of William, third duke. The O'Callaghans are one of the few Milesian families to be found in the peerage of Ireland. The member for Dungarvon was born in 1809. (Showbally Castle, near Clogheen.)

O'CONNELL (CITY OF DUBLIN).

DANIEL O'CONNELL, Esq. of Derrynane Abbey, in the county of Kerry, is one of her Majesty's Counsel, with a patent of precedency at the Irish bar. To this gentleman may be applied the words of a recent biographer of Pym:-" His name was in the mouths of all, whether of the residents of palaces or of the huts where poor men lie the fiercest hate or the most unbounded love was equally his great reward." It is quite impossible therefore to utter one syllable regarding him, in laudation or condemnation, which has not been iterated and reiterated, which has not been rung and re-rung on the public ear, until the sound, like other clashing noises to which familiarity accustoms us, ceases to be heard, or, if heard, ceases to be heeded. Before his recent election by the city of Dublin, the learned gentleman represented in succession the counties of Clare, Waterford, Kerry, and the city of Kilkenny. He was chosen by the freeholders of Clare, for the first time, while Catholics were yet excluded from parliament, and took his seat after a second election, as member for the same county, the session immediately succeeding that in which the Catholic Relief Bill had received the royal assent. The family from which Mr. O'CONNELL descends claims Milesian origin. and was originally established in the county of Limerick. During the contest in Ireland in 1688, John O'Connell, Esq. of Derrynane, great-grandfather of the member for Dublin, raised a company of foot for the service of JAMES II. signalized himself at Derry, the Boyne, and Aughrim, and at length retiring with his shattered regiment to Limerick, was included in the capitulation of that city. Mr. O'Connell, who was born Aug. 5, 1775, married, in 1802, his cousin, Mary, daughter of Dr. O'Connell, a physician at Tralee, and is a widower, with four sons and three daughters; namely, Maurice, late member for Tralee; Morgan, knight of the shire for Meath; John, who sits for Athlone; Daniel, a partner in the firm of O'Connell and Co. the brewers; Ellen, the wife of Christopher Fitzsimon, Esq. of Glencullen, late M. P. for the county of Dublin; Catherine, of Charles O'Connell, Esq. late representative for Kerry; and Elizabeth, of Nicholas Joseph French, Esq. of Fort William. (Derrynane Abbey, county of Kerry.)

O'CONNELL (MEATH).

MORGAN O'CONNELL, Esq. second son of the member for Dublin, accompanied General Devereux to America, and subsequently, on his return to Europe, held a commission in the Austrian service. He has been knight of the shire since 1832. The Liberal party in Meath comprises some of the most respectable landed proprietors in the county, including Lord Fingal, Sir William Somerville, the Winters, Christopher Drake, Esq. of Roristown, &c. (Derryuane Abbey, county of Kerry.)

O'CONNELL (ATHLONE).

JOHN O'CONNELL, Esq. third son of the member for Dublin, was returned by Youghal in 1832 and 1835, and for Athlone in 1837. (Derrynane Abbey, Kerry.)

O'CONNELL (KERRY).

MORGAN JOHN O'CONNELL, Esq. now for the second time in parliament, is nephew of the member for Dublin, and son of John O'Connell, Esq. of Grena, by Elizabeth, daughter of William Coppinger, Esq. of Barryscourt. (Grena, near Killarney.)

O'CONNOR (COUNTY OF ROSCOMMON).

DENNIS O'CONNOR, Esq. of Ballinagar, commonly called "The O'CONNOR Don," is son of the late member for Roscommon, and nephew of Dr. O'Connor, an eminent antiquary, many years librarian to the Marquis of Buckingham at Stow. He possesses considerable property, and represents the great house of O'Connor, in which, were Ireland still ruled by her native princes, and had the dynasty of the family adhered to the present time, the sovereignty of Connaught would now be vested. He was born in 1794, and married, in 1824, Mary-Anne, daughter of Major Blake, of Tower Hill.

His politics are extremely Liberal. (Ballinagar, near French Park.)

O'FERRALL (County of Kildare).

RICHARD MORE O'FERRALL, Esq. of Ballyna, eldest son and heir of the late Major Ambrose More O'Ferrall,* a considerable landed proprietor in the counties of Kildare and Longford, has represented the former since 1830, and supports the Whigs; on the accession of which party to power, in 1835, he became one of the Lords of the Treasury. The O'Mores, whom the hon. member represents, were in early times Princes of Leix, and possessed great estates, which they forfeited in the reign of Elizabeth.

Mr. O'Ferrall was born in 1797. (Ballyna, near Clonard.)

O'NEILL (ANTRIM).

THE HON. JOHN BRUCE RICHARD G'NEILL, a majorgeneral in the army, and constable of Dublin castle, is only brother and heir-presumptive of Earl O'Neill, lordlieutenant of the county, and son of the late peer, who, previously to his elevation to the Upper House, represented Antrim in many Parliaments. His lordship was killed by the Insurgents during the Rebellion of 1708.

General O'NEILL supported Reform, but generally acts with the Tories. He was born Dec. 30, 1780. (Tullamore Lodge, near Ballymena.)

^{*} A brother of Major O'Ferrall, attained the rank of general in the Sardinian service, and assumed the name of Ambrose.

ORD (NEWCASTLE-UPON-TYNE).

WILLIAM ORD, Esq. of Whitfield Hall, descended from an old family, and possessed of numerous estates in the county of Northumberland, served in nine successive Parliaments for Morpeth, and was first elected for the borough for which he now sits in 1835. The bon. member, who is son of the late William Ord, Esq. of Whitfield Hall, by Eleanor, daughter of Charles Brandling, Esq. of Gosforth, representative for Newcastle in 1784, 1790, and 1796, was born Jan. 2, 1781, and married, in 1803, Mary, daughter of the Rev. J. Scott, and sister to the Countess of Oxford. His only child, William Henry Ord, Esq. represented Newport in the last parliament. Mr. ORD's politics are Whig. (Whitfield Hall, Northumberland.)

OSSULSTON, LORD (NORTH NORTHUMBERLAND).

LORD OSSULSTON, only son of the Earl of Tankerville, by Corisande, daughter of the Duc de Grammont, has been knight of the shire since 1832, and divides with the Tories. He was born Jan. 10, 1810, and is unmarried. The noble house of Bennet, to which his lordship belongs, possesses great influence in the north, and has been twice elevated to the peerage. (Chillingham Castle, Northumberland.)

OWEN (PEMBROKESHIRE).

SIR JOHN OWEN, Bart. of Orielton, who is the eldest son of the late Joseph Lord, Esq. by Corbetta, daughter of Lieutenant-General Owen, assumed the surname of Owen upon succeeding, by the bequest of Sir Hugh Owen, to the large possessions of that gentleman, and was created a baronet Jan. 12, 1813. Sir John, who is lord-lieutenant of Pembrokeshire, has been twice married: first to Charlotte, daughter of the Rev. lohn L. Phillips, and secondly, to Mary-Frances, third daughter of Edward Stephenson, Esq. of Farley Hill, Berkshire. His politics are Tory. (Orietton House, Pembrokeshire.)

OWEN (PRMBROKE).

HUGH OWEN OWEN, Esq. lieutenant-colonel of the Royal Pembrokeshire Militia, is only son of Sir John Owen, Bart. of Orielton, and son-in-law of Sir Charles Gould Morgan, Bart. of Tredegar. He has had a seat since 1826 for the borough, which his ancestors represented for nearly two hundred years, and supports the Tory party. (Orielton House, Pembrokeshire.)

PACKE (South Leicestershire).

CHARLES WILLIAM PACKE, Esq. eldest son of Colonel Packe, of Prestwould Hall, by Penelope, his wife, sister of Dugdale Stratford Dugdale, Esq. of Blythe Hall, was first returned by Leicestershire on the retirement of Mr. Frewen Turner, in 1836. He is the descendant of a very influential family, founded by Sir Christopher Packe, Lord Mayor of London in 1654, who received the honour of knighthood from Cromwell, and was a member of the Usurper's other house of Parliament, as Lord Packe. The hon. member was born Sept. 23, 1796, and married Nov. 13, 1821, Kitty-Jenkyn, only daughter of Thomas Hort, Esq. His politics are Tory. (Prestwould Hall, Leicestershire.)

PAGET (BRAUMARIS).

FREDERICK PAGET, Esq. of Plasnewydd, captain in the Coldstream Guards, is the eldest son of the Hon. Berkeley Paget, a commissioner of the excise, by Sophia Askell, daughter of the Hon. William Bucknall, and nephew to the Marquis of Anglessey. He was born in 1881. His sentiments are Whig. (Plasnewydd, Anglessy.)

PAGET (LICHFIELD).

LORD ALFRED HENRY PAGET, an officer in the Horse Guards, is second son of the Marquis of Anglesey, by his second wife, Lady Charlotte Cadogan, daughter of Charles, first Earl of Cadogan. The family of Paget was established by William Paget, a successful courtier of the reign of Henry VIII., who at one time filled the office of Secretary ef State, and was summoned to Parliament as Baron Paget of Beaudesert. Paternally, the Marquis of Anglesey descends from the Baylys of Plasnewydd, who claimed to be a scion of the royal house of Baliol, and to spring through his only daughter, from the renowned Scottish patriot, WILLIAM WALLACE. LORD ALFRED PAGET was born June 29, 1816. His politics are Whig. (Beaudesert, Staffordshire.)

PAKINGTON (DROITWICH).

JOHN SOMERSET PAKINGTON, Esq. of Westwood House, the new member for Droitwich, is son of William Russell, Esq. of Powick Court, in the county of Worcester, by Elizabeth, daughter of Sir Herbert Perrot Pakington, Bt. of Westwood, and assumed his present surname as heir to his uncle, the late Sir John Pakington, Bart.* He married Miss Slaney, and has issue. The founder of the fortunes of the house of Pakington was Sir John Pakington, a lawyer, who in the reign of Henry VIII. was chiographer in the Court of Common Pleas, and died possessed of large acquired estates. His brother and heir, Robert Pakington, M.P. for London, was grandfather of Sir John Pakington, Queen ELIZABETH's favourite. Sir Herbert Pakington, who, as well as his father and grandfather, represented Worcestershire, is said to have been the original from which Addison drew his inimitable "Sir Roger de Coverley."

PALMER (BERKSHIRE).

ROBERT PALMER, Esq. of Holme Park, who, with the exception of 1831, has been uninterruptedly member for the county since 1825, voted for the Reform Bill, but usually divides with the Tories. He is eldest son of the late Richard Palmer, Esq. and grandson of Robert Palmer, Esq. of Great Russell Street, who acquired, as agent of the Duke of Bedford, a considerable fortune, with which he purchased estates near Reading. The hon. member was born Jan. 31, 1793. (Holme Park, near Reading.)

PALMER (SOUTH ESSEX.)

GEORGE PALMER, Esq. of Nazeing Park, is brother of John Horsley Palmer, Esq. late Governor of the Bank, the defeated candidate for London, and nearly connected with the great commercial family of the same name in the City; he succeeded to the representation of South Essex on the demise of Mr. Hall Dare. His principles are Tory. (Nazeing Park, Essex.)

[†] The following interesting anecdote is recorded of this eminent person. Having by his expensive mode of life contracted great debts, he took the wise resolution of retiring into the country, and sald he would-feed on bread and verjuice till he made up his extraosgeneis; which coming to the Royal ear, he Queen gave him a grant of a gentleman's estate in Suffolk, of eight or nine hundred a year, which had escheated to the crown; but after he had been there to take possession he could not behold the miseries of that distressed family without regard and compassion; and the melancholy spectacle of the unhappy lady and her children so effectually wrought upon his feelings, that he repaired immediately to Court, and humbly becauched her Minjesty to excuse him from enriching himself by the exhamilation of a gentleman, who fell by a combination of his entenness—and model have the Gueen till he had obtained his request, which involved the restoration of the property to the registral water.

JOHN PARKER, Esq. barrister-at-law, eldest son of Hugh Parker, Esq. of Woodthorpe, near Sheffield, and grand-40n maternally of Samuel Walker, Esq. of Masborough, one of the great iron founders at Rotherham, descends from a branch of the Parker family long seated at Little Norton, in Derbyshire. He has had a seat for the borough he represents since 1832, and holds office under the present government as a Lord of the Treasury. (Woodthorpe, Derbyshire.)

PARKER (South Drvon).

MONTAGU EDMUND NEWCOMBR PARKER, Esq. of Whiteway, a supporter of Tory measures, succeeded to the representation of South Devon, in 1835, defeating after a severe contest Lord John Russell. The hon. member, who was born in 1807, is elder son of the late Montagu Edmund Parker, Esq. by Harriett, his wife, daughter of John Newcombe, Esq. of Starcross, and great-grandson of John Parker, Esq. of Boringdon, whose eldest son, John, created Baron Boringdon, was father of the present Earl of Morley. (Whiteway, Devon.)

PARKER (PRESTON).

ROBERT TOWNLEY PARKER, Esq. of Cuerden Hall, descends from an ancient family seated in Lancashire since the time of Henry IV. He is only son of the late Thomas Townley Parker, Esq. by Susannah, only daughter and heir of Peter Brooke, Esq. of Astley, and great-grandson of Banastre Parker, Esq. who transferred the family seat from Extwistle to Cuerden Hall, to which he had succeeded in right of his mother, the co-heiress of Christopher Banastre, Esq. of Bank. The member for Preston was born Aug. 27, 1793, and married, Dec. 21, 1816, Harriet, youngest daughter of Thomas Brooke, Esq. of Church Minsbull, in Cheshire. His politics are Tory. (Cuerden Hall, near Preston.)

PARKER (Oxpordshire).

THOMAS AUGUSTUS WOLSTENHOLME PARKER, Req. the new Tory member for Oxfordsbire, is nephew and being presumptive to the Earl of Macclesfield, lord-lieutenant of the county, and only son of the Hon. Thomas Parker, by Eliza, his second wife, youngest daughter of William Breton Wolstenholme, Esq. of Holy Hill, Sussex. The hon. member was born March 17, 1811. Sir Thomas Parker, the first peer of the family, was an eminent lawyer in the reign of Queen Anne, constituted Lord Chancellor in 1718, and created Earl of Macclesfield in 1721.

PARNELL (Dunder).

THE RIGHT HON. SIR HENRY PARNELL, Bart. of Rathleague, in the Queen's County, second son of the late Right Hon. Sir John Parnell, Bart. Chancellor of the Exchequer in Ireland, has sat in parliament for more than thirty years, and during that period has been a leading member of the Whig party. Of the finance committee in 1828 he acted as chairman, and his work on taxation and finance, published about six years ago, acquired considerable reputation. Under Lord Grey's government, Sir Henry was for a short time Secretary at War, and on the formation of the Melbourne ministry in 1835 became Paymaster-General of the Forces, and Treasurer of the Navy. The family of Parnell settled in Ireland temp. CHARLES II. and has since held a distinguished rank amongst the landed proprietors of that kingdom.

SIR HENRY PARNELL, who is great grand-nephew of Archdeacon Parnell, the poet, was born in 1776, and married, in 1801, Lady Caroline Dawson, daughter of John, first Earl of Portarlington. (Rathleague, Queen's County.)

PARROTT (Totness).

JASPER PARROTT, Esq. of Dundridge, Devon, has represented Tomess in the three last parliaments, and supports the ultra Liberals. The hon gentleman's father was a Devoughire farmer, who left an independent property to his son, which the latter considerably increased by his marriage with the daughter of an opulent Yorkshire grazier. (Dundridge, Devon.)

PATTEN (NORTH LANCASHIRE.)

JOHN WILSON PATTEN, Esq. of Bank Hall, is eldest son of the late Thomas Wilson Patten, Esq. M.P. by Elizabeth, his wife, daughter of Nathan Hyde, Esq. of Ardwick; and nephew of Colonel Patten Bold, who inherited from his mother, the heiress of the great house of Bold, of Bold Hall, the extensive estates of that family. The present Mr. Patten derives the additional surname of Wilson, with property in the counties of Chester and Lancaster, from Dr. Wilson, the estimable Bishop of Sodor and Mann. He has represented Lancashire for several years, and is a moderate Tory.

The hon. gentleman was born April 26, 1802, and married, in April, 1828, his cousin, Anna-Maria, daughter and co-heir of the late Peter Patten Bold, Esq. of Bold. (Bank Hall, near Warrington.)

PEEL (TAMWORTH).

THE RIGHT HON. SIR ROBERT PEEL, Bart. of Drayton Manor, the eloquent and gifted leader of the Tory party, was returned to Parliament by the University of Oxford in 1818, and continued to represent that learned constituency until 1828, when his altered opinion regarding the expediency of repealing the laws in force against the Roman Catholics, caused him to be displaced by Sir Robert Harry Inglis. He then obtained a seat for Westbury, and subsequently for Tamworth. In 1822, having previously acted as Chief Secretary for Ireland, he succeeded Lord Sidmouth as Secretary of State for the Home Department, and filled for several years high appointments. He retired with his party in 1830, and remained out of office until called, in 1834, to preside over the councils of his sovereign, as First Lord of the Treasury, and Chancellor of the Exchequer. His ministry endured. however, but a brief period, and the Right Hon. Bart. resigned his important trust in less than four months after it had been confided to him. By the most violent of his political opponents, the character of Sir ROBERT PEEL is held in the highest esteem, and his eloquence and abilities are acknowledged by all parties. His father, who acquired by his own energy and talents one of the largest fortunes ever accumulated, married, in 1783, Ellen, daughter of William Yates, Esq. of Bury, and left, with two daughters, six sons, viz.

- I. ROBERT, the present Baronet.

LORD RUSSELL, only son of the Marquis of Tavistock, grandson of the Duke of Bedford, and nephew to Lord John Russell, was elected for the borough after the passing of the Reform Bill, and continues to represent it, advocating Whig principles. He was born July 1, 1809. Fow names on the records of England have been more illustrious than that of Russell—still fewer so interwoven with the brilliant events of our annals. It acquired historical renown under the rule of the Plantagenets, and from that turbulent era to our own comparatively tranquil times, no generation has passed without its eminent character. So early as the reign of Henry VI., Sir John Russell was speaker of the House of Commons. He was grandfather of the first Earl of Bedford, the most accomplished gentleman at the courts of Henry VII. and Henry VIII. as his descendant Francis was acknowledged to have been at the court of George III.; but the Duke was much more than a courtier; the friend and associate of Fox, he stood forward, in the words of a contemporary, "the hereditary champion of the constitution, prepared with equal fearlessness to repel the assaults of anarchy or despotism." (Woburn Abbey, Bedfordshire, and Tavistock House, Devon.)

RUSSELL (STROUD).

THE RIGHT HON. LORD JOHN RUSSELL, third son of the present Duke of Bedford, by his first wife, Georgiana-Elizabeth, daughter of Viscount Torrington, is leader of the Whig party in the House of Commons, and stood prominently forward in the struggle which preceded the overthrow of Sir Robert Peel's government. His lordship, who has been for many years in Parliament, became Paymaster of the Forces on the formation of Lord Grey's ministry, and received the seals as Home Secretary in 1835. To his charge was intrusted the introduction of the Reform Bill. In literature he is distinguished as the able author of a "Life of William Lord Russell," of "Memoirs of the Affairs of Europe from the Peace of Utrecht," and of " A short History of the British Constitution." The tragedy of Don Carlos has also favourably displayed his lordship's abilities as a poet. He was born Aug. 19, 1792, and married, in 1835, Lady Ribblesdale, sister of Thomas Henry Lister, Esq. of Armitage Park. the accomplished author of Granby.

(Berechurch Hall, Essex.)

SOMERSET (Monmouthshirm).

THE RIGHT HON. LORD GRANVILLE SOMERSET, second son of the late Duke of Beaufort, by Lady Charlotte-Sophia Leveson Gower, aunt to the Duke of Sutherland, has been uninterruptedly knight of the shire since 1818, and always a supporter of the Tories; he was formerly a Lord of the Treasury, and under Sir Robert Peel's government held Office as Chief Commissioner of the Woods and Forests. The ducal house of Beaufort possesses great estates in the counties of Gloucester, Monmonds, and Oxford; and has a leading influence in those shires. Amongst its members may be mentioned the fames Car dinal Beaufort, and Henry, Marquis of Worcester, so distinguished for his gallant defence, against the Parliament forces, of Ragland Castle; one of the last fortresses upon whose battlements the Royal banner bade defiance to treason. That stanch cavalier's son and successor, Edward, 2nd Marquis of Worcester, attained great celebrity as a man of science, and published, in 1665, a pamphlet entitled "A century of the Names and Scantlings of Inventions," in which the power and application of the steam-engine are distinctly described.

Lord GRANVILLE SOMERSET was born in 1792, and married, in 1822, the Hon. Emily Smith, youngest daughter of Lord Carrington.

Sir William Merrotte Somervilles, Bart. of Somerville, the new Liberal member for Drogheda, is elder som of the late Sir Marcus Somerville, knight of the shire for Meath, by Mary-Anne, his wife, only daughter and heir of Sir Richard Gorges Meredyth, Bart. The Somervilles of Ireland, who have ranked for more than a century in the first class of landed proprietors, were established in that kingdom by Thomas Somerville, a scion of the Scottish house of Somerville, by commercial pursuits in Dublin. The present Baronet is married to Lady Maria-Harriet Conyngham, youngest daughter of the late Marquis of Conyngham. (Somerville, mear. Nasan.)

SPEIRS (RICHMOND).

ALEXANDER SPEIRS, Esq. of Elderslie, N.B. returned for the second time for Richmond, advocates Whig measures. He descends from a Scottish family, and is cousin to Alexander Graham Speirs, Esq. of Culcreuch, who represented Paisley during a portion of the last parliament. The hon. gentleman is also nearly allied to Lord Dundas, whose influence in the election for Richmond is very considerable.

SPRY (BODMIN).

SIR SAMUEL THOMAS SPRY, of Place and Tregolls in Cornwall, has been member for the borough since 1832, and . entertains moderate opinions. The hon, gentleman is eldest son of the late Admiral Thomas Spry, a gallant naval officer in the American war, by Anna-Maria, his. wife, sister and heir of Samuel Thomas, Esq. of Tregolls. Admiral Spry's name was originally Davey, but he changed it for that of his maternal ancestors on inheriting the Cornish estates of his uncle, Admiral Sir Richard Spry, also a distinguished seaman, who accompanied Boscawen in several of his enterprising expeditions, and assisted at the reduction of Louisbourg. Of the family of Spry it is somewhat singular that it should become a parliamentary one at three very remarkable periods: John Sprye represented Tavistock in the reign of HENRY VII., when York and Lancaster united; Arthur Spry sat for St. Maws at the Restoration; and Sir SANUEL himself came in for Bodmin, its first representative under the Reform Act. The hon, member was born July 25, 1804. (Tregolls, Truro.)

The hongentleman's eldest brother, the Right Hon. Henry Villiers-Stuart, lord-lieutenant of the county of Waterford, has inherited the extensive estates of his maternal ancestors, the Earls of Grandison.

The noble family was established in Ireland by Sir Edward Villiers (half-brother of George Villiers, the ill-fated Duke of Buckingham), who was appointed in 1622 President of Munster, and died in 1626, lamented more deeply than any governor who had previously ruled the province. He was interred in the Earl of Cork's chapel at Youghall, and the following lines were engraven on his tomb:—

Munster may curse the time that Villiers came, To make us worse, by leaving such a name Of noble parts, as none can imitate, But those whose hearts are married to the state: But if they press to imitate his fame, Munster may bless the time that Villiers came.

The knight of the shire for Waterford was born Aug. 21, 1804, and married, June 1, 1833, Gatherine, only daughter of Michael Cox, Esq. of Castletown. The politics of the family are Whig. (Dromana, near Cappoquin.)

CHARLES WOOD, Esq. of Hickleton Hall, Yorkshire, the eldest son of Sir Francis Lindley Wood, Bart. succeeded, in 1882, Mr. Ellice, as Secretary to the Treasury, which office he filled until November, 1834, and on the accession of his party, the Whigs, to power in 1835, he became Secretary to the Admiralty. From 1826 to 1831 Mr. Wood sat for Great Grimsby, subsequently for Wareham, and has represented Halifax since 1832. He was born in Dec. 1800, and married, in 1829, Lady Mary Grey, daughter of Earl Grey, to whom he acted as private Secretary. (Hickleton, near Doncaster.)

WOOD (London).

MATTHEW WOOD, Esq. of Hatherley Court, Gloucestershire, a hop merchant in the Borough, is an alderman of London, and twice filled the civic chair of that city, which he has represented in nine successive Parliaments. He is an ultra Liberal, and took a distinguished part in favour of Queen Caroline. His age verges on seventy. Mr. Alderman Wood descends from a house of antiquity in Devonshire, although the branch he springs from suffered the fate of many a Western family, and fell into obscurity. He is himself a native of Tiverton.

WOOD (BRECKNOCKSHIRE).

THOMAS WOOD, Esq. of Gwernevet in the county he represents, commands the East Middlesex Militia, and is aide-de-camp to the Queen. He was first returned for Brecknockshire in 1806. The hon. member is eldest son of the late Thomas Wood, Esq., and married Lady Caroline Stewart, sister of the Marquis of Londonderry; he entertains Tory opinions. (Gwernevet, Brecoa.)

PARLIAMENTARY BIOGRAPHER.

WOOD (MIDDLESEX).

THOMAS WOOD, Esq. jun., of Littleton House, Captain in the army, stood a very severe contest for the representation of the Metropolitan county in 1835, but was then defeated by Mr. Hume. At the recent election he again offered himself, and was returned with Mr. Byng. His politics are Tory. The hon. gentleman is son of Col. Wood, the member for Brecon, and nephew of the Marquis of Londonderry. His great-grandfather once represented Middlesex. (Littleton House, near Staines.)

WOOD (KENDAL).

GEORGE WILLIAM Wood, Esq. of Singleton Lodge, was knight of the shire for South Lancaster in 1833, and first returned for the borough he now represents at the last election. The hon gentleman, engaged, we believe, in commercial pursuits at Manchester, is son of the late Rev. William Wood, of Leeds, by Louisa-Anne, his wife, daughter of George Oates, Esq. of Newton Hall; was born July 26, 1781, and married, in 1810, Sarah, daughter of Joseph Oates, Esq. of Westwood Hall. (Singleton Lodge, Lancashire.)

WORSLEY (LINCOLNSHIRE).

LORD WORSLEY, elder son of the Earl of Yarborough, descends paternally from Sir Edmund Anderson, Lord Chief Justice of the Court of Common Pleas, at the close of the sixteenth century, and from Field Marshal Sir William Pelham, an eminent military commander of the same period. His lordship's mother was second daughter of the bon. John Bridgman Simpson, and heiress to her uncle Sir Richard Worsley, Bart. of Appuldercombe, in the Isle of Wight. Lord Worsley has been in parliament since 1834, and acts with the Whiga.

He was born April 12, 1809, and married Dec. 19, 1821, the Hon. Adelaide Maude, daughter of Lord Hawarden. (Brocklesby, Lincolnshire.)

WOULFE (CASHEL).

THE RIGHT HON. STEPHEN WOULFE, Attorney-General for Ireland, was returned for the borough of Cashel upon the elevation, in 1835, of Mr. Serjeant Perrin (the then member) to the Bench, and succeeded Mr. Baron Richards in the high legal office he holds. The right hon, gentleman descends from a most respectable family in the county of Clare, and is heir-presumptive to their estates. He was called to the Bar in 1814.

WRIGHTSON (NORTHALLERTON).

WILLIAM BATTIE WRIGHTSON, Esq. of Cusworth, Yorkshire, barrister-at-law, acted as one of the commissioners appointed to inquire into the state of the Irish poor, and represented East Retford in 1826, but lost his seat on petition the following year; he subsequently sat for Hull in 1830 and 1831, and unsuccessfully contested Northallerton in 1832, but was returned unopposed at the two last elections. His politics are moderately Whig. Mr. WRIGHTSON, who is eldest son of William Wrightson, Esq. of Cusworth, sometime M.P. for Aylesbury, by Henrietta, his wife, daughter and co-heir of Richard Heber, Esq. of Marton, was born in 1789, and married, in 1821, Georgiana, daughter of Freeman Thomas, Esq. of Ratton, in Sussex. (Cusworth, Yorkshire.)

WYNDHAM (SALISBURY).

Wadham Wyndham, Esq. of the College, Salisbury, a landed proprietor in the counties of Hants, Wilts, Dorrset, Somerset, and Devon, is son of the late Henry Penruddocke Wyndham, Esq. knight of the shire for Wilts from 1196 to 1812, and descends from a common accestor with the Earls of Egremont, and the Wyndhams of Norfolk, whose representative was the late distinguished states man. The hon, member's father was an especial favourite of George III., and on one occasion appeared at court in a coat made of dark-striped coloured cloth. The king mistaking it for French manufacture, at that time much worn, exclaimed, "What, what, Wyndham in a French coat?" "No, please your Majesty, it is not French." "What then ?" "It is cloth made at Salisbury." "Then send me some of it." This was done, it afterwards became fashionable, orders poured in, till every place in the city which could be rented to hold a loom was furnished with one; and by this incident, occupation and profit were procured to the inhabitants of Salisbury, to a greater extent than at any preceding period. The member for Salisbury was born Oct. 16, 1773, and married, March 1, 1821, Anna-Eliza, daughter of Lieut.-General Sir John Slade, Bart. He votes with the Tories. (College, Salisbury.)

WYNN (DENBIGHSHIRE).

SIR WATEIN WILLIAMS WYNN, Bart. lord-lieutenant and custos rotulorum of the counties of Denbigh and Merioneth, has represented the former since 1796, and is of the Tory party. The possessions and influence of the hon, member, popularly styled Prince of Wales, are paramount in the principality, and his magnificent seat, Wynnstay, yields in splendour to few in the empire. The first baronet of the family, Sir William Williams, was an eminent lawyer, and Speaker of the House of Commons; but the Wynnstay estates descend to Sir Watkin through his maternal ancestors the Wynns. The hon, member, eldest son of the late Sir Watkin Williams Wynn, Bart. M. P. for Denbighshire, by Charlotte, daughter of the Right Hon. George Grenville, was born Oct. 26, 1772, and married, in 1817, Lady Henrietta-Antonia Clive, eldest daughter of the Earl of Powis. (Wynnstay, near Wrexham, Denbighshire.)

F.S.A. of Llangedwin, brother to Sir Watkin Wilams Wynn, Bart. was born Oct. 9, 1775, and married, in 1806, Mary, eldest daughter of Sir Foster Cunliffe, Bt. The hon. member has sat for the county since 1795, and advocates moderate Tory principles. He held office from 1822 to 1828, as President of the Roard of Control, was Secretary of War for a short period under the Whig government, and joined Sir Robert Peel's ministry as Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster. (Llangedwin, Montgomeryshire.)

WYSE (WATERFORD).

THOMAS WYSE, Rsq. is son of Thomas Wyse, Esq. of the Manor of St. John, and the descendant of a family of respectability long settled at Waterford. The royalties and exclusive jurisdiction granted to the family by HENEY VIII. in the midst of that city, are still enjoyed by Mr. Wyse. He married a daughter of Lucien Buonaparte, Prince of Canino, a niece of Napoleon. The hon. member, who formerly sat for the county of Tipperary, acts with the extreme liberal party; and took a leading part in the discussions of the Catholic Association, of which he has published an historical sketch. (Manor of St. John, Waterford.)

YATES (County of Carlow).

JOHN ASHTON YATES, Esq. F.R.S. of Dinglehead, Lancashire, and of Bryanstone-square, London, the new member, on the Liberal interest, for the county of Carlow, is son of the late Rev. John Yates, of Dinglehead, for many years the respected minister of the Unitarian chapel is Paradise-street, Liverpool, by Elizabeth, sister to Nicholas Ashton, Esq. of Woolton Hall, Lancashire, and relict of Dr. Bostock. Mr. Yates was formerly an eminent merchant in Liverpool, but shortly after his father's death, being possessed of an ample fortune, he retired from business. He is cousin to Mr. James, M.P. for Cumberland.

The hon. gentleman married Frances-Mary, niece of Sir Jonathan Lovett, Bart. of Liscombe House, Bucks, and daughter of the late Dr. Verney Lovett, Dean of Lismore, one of the chaplains to George IV. when Prince of Wales, by whom he has several children. (Dinglekead, Lancashtre.)

The hon. member's grandfather was governor of the island of Tobago, and his great-grandfather, the first baronet, lieutenant-governor of Dominica. Sir WILLIAM YOUNG, who is son of the late Sir W. L. Young, by Louisa-Anne, sister of John Jolliffe Tufnell, Eq. of Langleys, was born in 1806, and married, in 1832, to Caroline, fifth daughter of John Norris, Eq. of Hughenden House, in the same county. (Marlow Park, Bucks.)

ABSTRACT

THE LAW OF ELECTION,

AND

USAGES OF THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.

Introduction.

THE origin of the Parliament of England, the greatest of all political assemblies, is lost in the remoteness of ages. Looking back to the early periods of our history, we find the people on every important event meeting to give advice to the monarch. Their councils at different times, under different forms and denominations, seem to have always breathed a spirit of independence. and to have held themselves in some measure free from the control of the supreme power. Among the names applied to these assemblies we have still on record those of Michel-Synoth, Michel-Gemote, and Wittena-Gemote. The word Parliament is comparatively of modern date. It was applied to general assemblies of the states under Louis VII. in France about the middle of the twelfth century, and the term first occurs in our written law in the preamble to the statute of Westminster i. 3. En-WARD I., in 1272. Under the Norman kings the councils of the nation appear to have been constituted on feudal principles, and to have consisted solely of the greater barons, the lords spiritual and temporal, in whose consent was implied that of the lesser barons, or inferior tenants in chief, except on extraordinary occasions, when the latter were also convened. The earliest proof of the presence, in the national assemblies, of others than these immediate vassals of the monarch, is the writ of the 15th year of John, summoning to consult on the affairs of the kingdom four discreet knights of the county, in addition to those persons who held directly of the crown. Other instances of similar summons soon after occurred. but the House of Commons, as it at present stands, cannot with certainty date its existence before the year 1265. when the Earl of Leicester, in the king's name, convoked a council, consisting not only of the prelates and barons, but also of representatives from the counties, cities, and boroughs. The preamble to the enactment of this assembly declares that it passed " by common consent of the King, the prelates, earls, barons, and commonalty of the realm." For a century and a half after the reign of HENRY II., there was but one parliament for England and Ireland. The establishment of a separate deliberative assembly commenced under EDWARD II. In the reign of HENRY VII., the Poynings law deprived the Irish Parliament of its independence; this statute, as extended by Queen MARY, required that no parliament should be held in Ireland until the Chief Governor had certified to the King and Council in England, not only the measures which were in contemplation at the time when the Parliament was called, but those also which might become the subject of its future deliberation. This state of affairs lasted till 1782, when the Irish Parliament asserted and recovered its independence. The origin of the Scottish Parliament is involved in even greater obscurity than that of England. Its certain formation as a representative council, dates somewhat later than the famous summons of the Earl of Leicester. We find Burgesses first admitted into the Scottish Parliament by Robert Bruce in 1326, and in the preamble to the laws of Robert III., they are marked among the constituent members of that assembly. Yet the Parliament of Scotland, more subservient to the crown than that of Angland, never rose to the eminence which the latter attained; and prior to the reign of JAMES VI., its mention in history is not of frequent occurrence. In Scotland, before the union, peers and commons sat together in the same house. The parliaments of Scotland and Ireland were amalgamated with that of England, the former in 1707, and the latter in 1800: these, together, bear the name of the Imperial Parliament of the United Kingdom, and consist of two councils, the House of Lords and the House of Commons, which form with the Sovereign the three estates of the realm: without the consent of these three estates no law can be made or passed.

The prerogative of calling, proroguing, and dissolving parliament belongs to the Sovereign: the assembly is. however, also dissolved by a demise of the crown, or by its own termination from efflux of time, which, pursuant to a statute passed in 1716, occurs at the expiration of seven years from the period of its being summoned. In the case of a demise of the crown, it is enacted by the 7 & 8 WILLIAM III. c. 15, and 6 ANNE, c. 7, that the parliament in being shall continue for six months after the death of any King or Queen, unless sooner prorogued or dissolved by the successor, and if the parliament be at the time of the King or Queen's death separated by adjournment or prorogation, it shall, notwithstanding, immediately assemble; and if no parliament be then in being, the members of the last parliament shall assemble and be again a parliament. The dissolution of parliament, except when it occurs from lapse of time, is announced by royal proclamation, when a new parliament is called; but a prorogation is declared either by the Queen in person, who goes down in state to the House of Lords for that purpose, or it is done by commissioners appointed under the great seal. The power of adjournment of either house rests in itself, and this adjournment any member may move during the house's sitting, even in the midst of a debate, and his motion has precedence of all other business.

The Bouse of Lords.

THE House of Lords, or Upper House, is composed of the lords spiritual, who are the bishops, and the lords temporal, who are the dukes, marquisses, earls, viscounts, and barons, of England (the number of whom is indefinite. and may be increased at will by the power of the crown), the 16 representative peers from Scotland, and the 28 from Ireland. As a legislative body, the House of Lords is the supreme court of judicature of the united kingdom: its jurisdiction however is not original, but only arises upon appeals and writs of error from the inferior courts. The House of Lords is also the high court of Parliament, and is bound to receive and decide upon all impeachments brought before it by the House of Commons: and in order to perform these high functions, the House has a right to be attended by all the Judges, as well as the Serjeantsat-law, and the Masters in Chancery, in order to receive their advice in points of law, as well as to give greater weight and dignity to their proceedings.

Che House of Commons.

The House of Commons, or Lower House, the immediate subject of this work, is the representative council of the whole body of the people, and is by the Reform Act limited to a fixed number of members, to 500 for England and Wales, 105 for Ireland, and 53 for Scotland—in all, 658: of these the English and Welsh counties send 156, the Irish counties 64, and the Scotch 30; the English Universities send four, and the Irish University two; and the cities and boroughs of the united kingdom furnish the remainder.

The Elections.

:N a Parliament is dissolved, and a new one called yal proclamation, the Lord Chancellor sends his ant to the Clerk of the Crown in Chancery to issue vrits to the Sheriffs for the election in their respeccounties of members to serve in the Lower House. a vacancy occur during the sitting of the Commons, Speaker of the House, instead of and in the same aer as the Lord Chancellor, issues the warrant. The ker, during a recess of Parliament, also issues the ant for electing a member in the room of one who die, or become a peer of Great Britain, not howwithout receiving a previous notice and application certificate under the hands of two members, and unless the return of the member, whose death or nons to the Upper House creates the vacancy, shall been brought into the Crown Office fifteen days at east before the last sitting of the House immediately ading the time when such application shall be made: an the Speaker issue the warrant in case of the acy occurring from any member against whose ion or return any petition was pending at the time e prorogation or adjournment. In case of the banky of a member, the Speaker causes a notice to be ted in the Gasette forthwith, upon receiving a scate from the major part of the commissioners, se must not issue his warrant for the election till the ration of fourteen days. The Speaker at the beginof every Parliament is required to nominate and int by deed a certain number of members, not more seven nor less than three, who, on his death, his becoming vacant, or absence abroad, shall have the r of issuing the warrants required during a recessact of Parliament forty days are alone allowed bethe teste or date of the writ and its return into the Crown Office of the Court of Chancery, but in practice fifty days intervene. The ancient form of the writ is still preserved, except where it is necessary to vary and adapt it to the provisions of the Reform Act. The writs are to be delivered to the officers to whom the execution of them belongs, through the medium of the general post office, except in the case of those directed to the Sheriff of London and Middlesex, or to any other Sheriff or officer whose office is in London, Westminster, or Southwark, or within five miles thereof; writs addressed to them are to be delivered at their respective offices, by the Messenger of the Great Seal. In counties, the Sheriff within two days after the receipt of the writ must proclaim the time of holding the election, and must hold the same not later than the sixteenth day nor sooner than the tenth after such proclamation. towns and cities being counties of themselves, the Sheriff or Sheriffs shall give three days' notice of the day of election, and hold the election within eight days after the receipt of the writ. In boroughs and cities not counties, the writ is first sent to the Sheriff of the county, who must within three days after receipt cause a precept to be delivered to the Returning Officer of the borough or city, who shall hold the election within eight days after the receipt of the precept, and give four days' notice of the day he appoints. As soon as the time and place of election are fixed, all soldiers are by law to be removed at the least one day before the election to the distance of two or more miles, and are not to return until one day after the election is over. This regulation does not, however, apply to Ireland, or to Westminster or Southwark, nor in any place to the guards in attendance on the Sovereign or the royal family, nor to garrison towns, as far as regards the force comprising such garrison, nor to soldiers having a right to vote. No peer of parliament must interfere, and if any officer of the excise, customs, stamps, and other branches of the public revenue, presume to intermeddle in the elections, by either persuading an elector to vote for a particular candidate, or dissuading him from so doing, he is liable to forfeit £100, and to be disabled from holding any office under the crown.

The election every where commences by the returning officer reading his authority for holding it, by his taking the necessary oath, and by his also reading or causing to be read the bribery act. These forms concluded, the candidates are proposed and seconded, and the election proceeds. If no more candidates are proposed than those required by the writ to be returned, the returning officer is bound forthwith to return them. If more are proposed than those required by the writ to be returned, the election is decided either by the show of hands of the electors present, called the view, or, if any candidate demand it, by the poll, which is said to be made when the polls or heads of the electors are severally numbered. In counties the voter must poll at the booth allotted for the parish or township in which his qualification is situate, as also in cities and boroughs, except that freemen resident out of the city or borough limits may vote at any booth they please. In England, the polling for counties shall commence the next day but two after the day fixed for the election (i. e. the day of nomination), at nine o'clock in the morning, and continue for seven hours the first day, and eight the second, closing at four o'clock the second day: the polling for all other places but counties lasts but one day; it commences at eight o'clock in the morning, and continues till four o'clock in the afternoon of the day next following that fixed for the election. In Scotland the polling continues everywhere for two days-in Ireland for five. In England, if the votes be equal, the practice has been in favour of the returning officer making a double return. If this happen in Scotland, a double return must be made: in Ireland it is expressly prohibited, and the Sheriff, or, if there be two, the Sheriff whose warmen stands first in the appointment, whether he has a right of voting or not, must give the casting voice. In Eng. land, the returning officer is to declare the state of the poll, and to make proclamation of the members chosen, in counties at not later than two o'clock of the next day but one after the close of the poll, and in cities or boroughs the following day, or immediately if he pleases. In Scotland the members are to be declared the next day but one, in Ireland immediately after the closing of the poll. The return to the writ is by indentures between the sheriff and the electors. The return to the precept is by indentures between the returning officer and the electors on the one part, and the sheriff on the other: it must be sent with the precept to the sheriff, who remits it, as well as his own return, with the writ appended, to the Clerk of the Crown in Chancery. When a return has once been made, no person is to presume to make any alteration in it without express order of the House.

The Electors.

Previous to a statement of the qualifications of electors, it becomes necessary to enumerate the Persons who are disqualified from voting.—The elective franchise does not extend to infants, women, aliens, unless made denizens by letters-patent, or naturalized by act of parliament, idiots, lunatics, except during lucid intervals, persons found guilty of felony, unless they have been pardoned, or have undergone the punishment awarded to their offence, which operates as a pardon; persons convicted in a court of law of perjury, subornation of perjury, or of bribery; to peers, Irish peers, except when members of the House of Commons, to sheriffssubstitute, sheriff-clerks, or deputy sheriff-clerks, for the shires for which they hold their office, town-clerks, or deputy town-clerks, for the borough, &c. to which they are such clerks, to revenue officers, while in office, and for twelve months after they have quitted it, except commissioners of the land-tax, and persons acting under them, as well as those holding freehold offices by leeters-patent. Persons employed at any election, or within six months before, or a fortnight after, as counsel, agents, attorneys, poll-clerks, flag-men, or in any other capacity for the purposes of such election, are, if they receive at any time any money, retaining fee, or other reward, incapable of voting at such election. Police magistrates, receivers of fees at the police offices, constables, while in office, and for six months after they have quitted it, render themselves liable to a penalty of £100. if they vote for Middlesex, Surrey, Westminster, or Southwark. Justices, receivers, or persons belonging to the police force, appointed by virtue of 10 GEO. IV. c. 44, while in office, or for six months after they have quitted it, are liable to a similar penalty if they vote for Middlesex, Surrey, Hertford, Resex, or Kent, or for any city or borough within the metropolitan district. Receipt of parochial relief by electors for cities or boroughs within twelve months before the last day of July in the year of registration, disqualifies them from being registered. Alms-men, or those living in alms-houses, are no where entitled to vote. Charities which are of such a nature as to imply that the partaker of them is in a state of indigence, and abject dependence, work a disqualification of those who receive them, by proving their incapacity to execute a will of their own in the choice of representatives; Chelsea and Greenwich pensioners are, however, excepted. Farmers of the post-office rates and duties, being appointed collectors thereof, are specially exempted from disqualification in pursuance of such appointment; so are the fifteen coal-meters and ten corn-meters of London, provided they shall not receive, or be entitled to receive, any salary, fee, or reward, out of the revenues of the Customs, or other public revenues.

Qualifications of Electors for Counties.—The right of voting for counties extends to all persons who have free-holds not under the value of 40s. (in Ireland not under £10.) and who have had six months possession, or occipts of the rents and profits before the last day of July in the year of registration. Rents, and annuities for life of the requisite value per annum, issuing out of lands, are freeholds, and confer the franchise; so offices in respect of which the holder is possessed of freehold interest in lands, or profits issuing out of, or charged upon land of the requisite annual value. Individual members, however, of corporations aggregate cannot vote in respect of the estates belonging to the corporations; but corporations sole, as parsons, vicars, &c., may vote for lands holden in their corporate capacity. Joint tenants, and tenants in common, are allowed to vote, though the 7 & 8 WILLIAM III. c. 25. s. 7. enacts, that no more than one voice shall be admitted for the same house. &c. Trustees only who have been in the receipt of rents and profits to the required amount for their own use have the franchise. Persons may vote in respect of land-tax redeemed. The vendee in possession of an estate under the contract of sale, before the conveyance has been executed, has a right to vote, provided he has been in receipt of the rents and profits to his own use for the time required. An equitable interest in a lease confers the franchise. Freeholders are precluded from voting for counties in respect of any freehold property, if occupied by themselves, which would confer the right of voting for any borough, whether they shall have acquired such right or not.

Every person seized at law, or in equity, of any lands or tenements of copphold, or any other tenure whatever, except freehold, for his own life, or the life of another, or for any lives whatsoever, or for any larger estate of the clear yearly value of not less than £18. over and above all rents and charges, payable out of, or in respect of, the same, has a right to vote. Persons are precluded from voting at a county election for such copyholds, &c. as would confer on them, or any other person, the right of voting for a borough (according to the prevision of the borough franchise), whether such right has been actually acquired by them, or such other parameter, or not.

Every person has a right to vote for a county who lessee or assignee to any lands or tenements, whether of freehold or of any other tenure whatever, for the un expired residue, whatever it may be, of any tern originally created for a period of not less than sixty years, whether determinable on a life, lives, or not, of the clear vearly value of not less than £10, over and above all rents and charges, payable out of, or in respect of, the same; or for the unexpired residue, whatever it may be, of any term originally created for a period of not less than twenty years, whether determinable on a life or lives (or not) of the clear yearly value of not less than £50, over and above all rents and charges payable out of, or in respect of, the same; or who shall occupy as tenant any lands or tenements for which he shall be bona fide liable to a yearly rent of not less than £50,-Provided always, that no person, being only a sub-lessee, or the assignee of any underlease, shall have a right to vote in such election in respect of any such term of 60 years, or 20 years, as aforesaid, unless he shall be in actual occupation of the premises. As to joint-lessees, if, after deducting the rent reserved from the value of the estate, a sufficient amount of value remains to the share of each joint-lessee, all will be entitled to vote.

Occupiers must be bona fide liable to a yearly rent of not less than £50; they must have an uninterrupted occupation, and they must not underlet the tenement, so as to reduce the rent of that part which they occupy below £50. Joint occupiers of tenements, if together lable to an amount of rent making the share of each 150. are entitled to the franchise, but there must be a rivity of contract between the landlord and each occu-

To entitle a voter for a county to be registered, he set, if a freeholder, copyholder, customary tenant, or ant in ancient demesne, have been in actual possession of the property for which he claims the right, or in receipt of the rents and profits thereof for his own or six calendar months at least next previous to the last day of July in the year of registration: if a less assignee, or occupier and tenant, he must have been the actual possession, &c. for twelve calendar mon previous to the last day of July in such year.

Qualifications of electors for cities and boroughs Voters for cities and boroughs now form two gene classes, viz. those who claim under the 27th section the Reform Act, and those whose previously existi rights of voting are reserved to them by the 31st, 32: and 33rd sections of the same enactment.

The right to vote in cities and boroughs under the 2 section of the Reform Act, is given to every person w shall occupy, either as owner or tenant, any house, ws house, counting-house, shop, or other building, bei either separately or jointly with any land occupied the with by him as tenant under the same landlord, of 1 clear yearly value of £10.

To be registered, so that he may exercise the abo right, it is further required of the voter, 1. That he ha occupied the subject matter of his qualification for twe months previous to the last day of July of the year which he claims to be registered. 2. That where the p mises are situated in a place where there is a rate for: relief of the poor, he must have been rated to such r in respect of the subject matter of his qualification d ing the period required for his occupation in the pla where he has been such occupier, or if he has occup different premises in succession, that he has been ra for all the premises which he has successively occupi 3. That he has paid all the poors' rates and asses taxes which have become payable from him in respec such premises previously to the 6th of April, and t such payments were made on or before the 20th of J in the year of registration. 4. That he must have resid for six calendar months next previous to the last day July in the said year within the city or borough which he claims to vote, or within seven statute mi thereof, or any part thereof.

The qualification and restrictions imposed by the form Act on electors for cities and bor respect of ancient rights, are as follo claim to be registered as a burgess or admitted since the 1st of March, 1831, his title through birth or servitude; be a freeholder or burgage tenant, the quired since that day. The case of free gage tenants in cities and towns beir exception, for to them the right of votiz perpetuity. No one can claim to be : spect of any other right, unless he ha the 7th of June, 1832, the day of the Reform Act. 2. No one can claim to vo borough unless the right for which h perfectly complete and ripe for the pur on the last day of July of the year in mands to be registered, as if such day w election. 3. Nor unless he has resided fo months next previous to the last day of Julwithin the city or borough for which he c or within seven statute miles from the pla poll for such city or borough shall heretofo taken; and, where the qualification is deri place sharing in the election for such city his residence must be either in such pla seven statute miles of it. 4. Nor can any whatever claim to be registered if his name sh omitted two successive years from the regist omission arose from his having received par or from absence on the Queen's naval or vice.

The voters for cities and boroughs in resp rights may be subdivided into Voters in respect of inhabitancy, vis generally—Potwallopers, who are the of a city or borough, who furnish the Householders, inhabitants paying that is, paying the poor-rate.

- Voters in respect of tenure, vis. Freeholders— Burgage tenants; a burgage tenant is one who hath an entire indivisible tenement holden of the superior lord of the borough, by an immemorial certain rent distinctly reserved.
- 3. Voters in respect of personal rights, viz. Freemen burgesses, or liverymen.

Registration.

The judges of the Court of Registration are barristers annually appointed by the senior judge of each circuit, and their duty is to correct and settle certain lists containing the names of voters, and persons claiming to vote, furnished to them by the overseers, and other officers of the respective counties, cities, and boroughs, which, thus corrected and settled, become the register of voters.

In Ireland, this duty of revision now devolves on the assistant-barristers, or chairmen of counties at the quarter seesions, from whose decision there is an appeal in case the adjudication against the claimant is founded on insufficiency of value, to the judges of assize and a jury—if founded on any other ground, to the judges of assize without a jury.

These registers, settled by the respective revising barristers, are the only tests of the right of voting admitted at the election.

Proof of the qualification of a borough voter stands upon different grounds from that of a county voter. The latter is bound to send in his claim to the overseer, and to specify in that claim the nature of the qualification upon which he founds his right; this is not so with a borough voter, he is not required to make a claim in the first instance.

Electors pay a shilling for being registered. Without such payment down, a county voter's claim shall not be deemed valid: that it be the same with a city or borough voter is doubtful, as the shilling is to be paid by or recovered from him with the poor-rate.

Candidates.

PREVIOUS to a statement of the qualifications of candidates for parliament, it is necessary to enumerate the Persons disabled from sitting in the House .- No alien, or denizen by letters-patent, can be a member of the House. As to persons naturalized, the 1 GEO. I. and II. chap. 4, sect. 2, enacts that no bill of naturalization shall be received, unless it contain a clause preventing the person to be naturalized from becoming a member of the Privy Council, or from sitting in either house of Parliament; so that now, when any foreigner distinguished by rank or 'public service is to be naturalized, it is usual first to pass an act for the repeal of these statutes in his favour, and then to pass an act of naturalization without exception. The following persons are also disqualified: minors, idiots, or lunatics (if a man sane at the time of his election should become afterwards mad or imbecile. his seat shall be void), peers of parliament, all peers of Scotland (peers of Ireland, unless elected representative peers, may sit for any county, city, or borough of Great Britain); judges, judges of session, commissioners of the woods and forests (save one), governors in India, priests or deacons of the Church of England, ministers of the Church of Scotland, persons in holy orders of the Church of Rome, commissioners of excise, customs, transports, prizes, public accounts, except the auditor of the Exchequer, pensioners under the Crown, army agents, government contractors, deputies or clerks in the follow ing offices, viz. of the treasurer, the auditor, or tellers of the Exchequer, of the chancellor of the Exchequer, the commissioners of stamps, and the commissioners of appeal; persons holding any office under the lord-lieutenant of Ireland, created since the Irish Act of the 33 Gro. III. chap. 41.; the lord-chancellor, master of the rolls, and masters in chancery in Ireland. No sheriff, whilst in office for the shire for which he is sheriff, or for any place within his own jurisdiction; no sheriff-depute in Scotland, no returning officer at his own place of return, no police magistrate for Middlesex or Surrey, no person attainted of treason or felony, no outlaw in a criminal suit, can sit in the Commons House of Parliament.

If an election be avoided upon petition, and the sitting member be declared by the committee to have been guilty of bribery or treating at such election, he is incapable of being returned at any election which takes place in consequence of such avoidance.

As to a member becoming a bankrupt, the 52 GEO. III. chap. 144. sect. 1. enacts, that such member is incapable of voting and sitting for a year, unless within that time the commission be superseded, or the creditors paid the full amount of their debts; and the entering into a bond with two sureties for the payment of disputed debts, if recovered, is to be considered as a payment for the purposes of the statute. But if within a year the commission be not superseded, nor the debts paid, upon a certificate thereof by the commissioners to the Speaker, as prescribed in the statute, the seat of such member is vacated. As this act applies only to persons becoming bankrupts after their election, there seems nothing in it which prevents a person by reason of bankruptcy from being elected, but it has been held that the Act of Union with Ireland (which was to introduce a perfect reciprocity) communicates to Great Britain the operation of the Irish Act, 19 & 20 Ggo, III. chap. 25. which stands unrepealed, and which in its 9th section enacts " that any such bankrupt or bankrupts, or any person against whom a commission of bankruptcy shall issue, shall from henceforth be rendered incapable of being elected to serve in Parliament, until his or their creditors shall be paid or satisfied the full amount of their debts claimed and proved under the several commissions as shall issue against them."

If any member already chosen accept office under the Crown, except officers of the army and navy accepting new commissions, his seat becomes void, but he may be re-elected. A member of the House not in the army vacates his seat by accepting a commission, but he also may be re-elected.

Qualification of Candidates.—A candidate for a seat in Parliament must possess an estate freehold or copyhold for his own life, or some greater estate either in law or equity, of the clear annual value of £600; a candidate for a city or borough must possess a similar estate of the clear annual value of £300. The following persons are made exceptions, and require no qualification by estate: viz., the eldest son or heir-apparent of a peer, or lord of parliament, or of a peeress, or bishop, or of any person qualified for a knight of the shire, as well as candidates for the English universities, and for Trinity College, Dublin.

At the election, when the candidates are nominated, each, if requiring a qualification, may be called upon to swear to such, by any other candidate, or by two electors; and if any candidate, the request being made, refuse to take the qualification oath at the time of election, or at any time before the day on which Parliament is to meet, his election and return shall be void.

After the election, and before he takes his seat, each member requiring a qualification by estate must deliver to the clerk of the House, at the table of the House, a paper signed by himself, containing a description of the estate of qualification, and there take and subscribe an oath of its value.

Each candidate is liable to an expense of £40 in a county election, and £25 in a city or borough election, for booths, for the convenience of taking the poll, at each polling place, unless he make a particular agreement with the sheriff; and if a person be proposed without his consent, the proposer is liable to this expense.

Committees.

The judicature for the decision of controverted elections consists of a committee chosen by ballot from the House, according to certain regulations founded upon those originally prescribed by various statutes, and now arranged and consolidated by the 9 Gzo. IV. cap. 22, in order to try all petitions, and report their decision to the House.

There are six different petitions referred to a select committee:

- 1. Complaining of an undue election of a member or members.
 - 2. Of an undue return.
 - 3. That no return was made to the writ in due time.
- 4. That the return is not according to the requisition of the writ, or complaining of the special matters retained in it.

 Petition to oppose the right of election, or of appointing returning officers, determined by a select committee, and reported to the House.

6. To defend such right.

The first four may be subscribed by any person either claiming to have had a right to vote at the election, or to have been returned, or alleging himself to have been a candidate; and if it be a Scotch election, by any person claiming to have had a right to vote at the election of a delegate, or commissioner. The last two may be subscribed by all persons.

No proceedings will be had on any of the first four petitions, unless the subscriber, within fourteen days after its presentation, or a further time to be limited by the House, enter into a recognizance in £1000, with two sureties of £500, or four in £250, for the payment of costs and other expenses, and for complying with the other conditions prescribed.

If a petition presented to the House is not taken into consideration during the same session, a renewed petition which must contain no new allegation, nor be signed by other parties than those who signed the first (though all of these are not required), should be presented the next, and every subsequent session, till it is disposed of, within fourteen days from the commencement of the session.

The petition is presented to the House by a member within such time as shall be from time to time limited by the House, and by an order passed at the beginning of every session any of the four first petitions must be presented within fourteen days from the order, or within fourteen days after a new return shall be brought in. Either of the two other petitions must be presented within six calendar months after the day on which the report is made, or in case the six months shall expire between a dissolution or expiration of parliament, and the next meeting, or during any recess by prorogation or adjournment for fourteen days, then within fourteen days after the first day of the next session or meeting, as the case may be.

On the day appointed for taking the petition into consideration, and before the order of the day is read, the Serjeant-at-arms is directed to go with the mace to the places adjacent, and require the attendance of members. Upon his return the House is to be counted out, and if there be not one hundred members present to be adjourned. If one hundred members be present, the parties or agents are ordered to attend, and thirty-three members are selected by ballot, which number is afterwards, upon the parties withdrawing from the House, reduced to eleven, each party striking off alternately. Voters, petitioners, members against whom petitions are presented, and those members whose returns have not been brought in, are disqualified from serving on the committee, and their names, if drawn, shall be et aside. Members who are sixty years of age, or who have served on a select committee in the same session, are exempt from serving, unless the number of those who have not served be insufficient to form a committee. If at the day and time appointed no party appears to oppose the petition, the clerk of the House and the petitioner reduce the lists to eleven.

If the petitioner does not appear at the time fixed by the House, for taking the petition into consideration, he is liable, under his recognizance, for all costs incurred.

When the eleven members are thus respectively selected, they are to be sworn at the table, and are then deemed to be legally appointed, and are directed by the House to meet at any time within twenty-four hours. unless Sunday, Christmas-day, or Good-Friday, intervene. but they usually meet immediately to elect their chairman, and adjourn to the following day. In the election of chairman the member first drawn has a casting voice: so in the election of a new chairman. Committees since the Reform Act have held the register conclusive, unless the particular vote was discussed or objected to before the revising barrister, or the objection arose after the register was revised. When the committee report to the House their final determination on the merits of a petition (except in the case of a petition to oppose, or to defend the right of election, or of appointing returning officers), they are to report whether the petition. or the opposition to it, was frivolous or vexatious; or, if no party opposes the petition, whether the election complained of was vexatious or corrupt. The effect of this report is, that the petitioners, or persons opposing the petition, as may be, are liable to the costs incurred by the other side: in the case of vexatious or corrupt election, it gives the petitioner costs from the sitting member. When the committee report finally on the merits of any petition, they are also to report their determination upon the right of election for the particular place to which the petition relates, or the right of choosing the returning officer, if the merits of the petition wholly, or in part, depend upon either of those rights, and for this purpose they are to require written statements of such rights from the respective parties. Their determination then being entered on the journals of the House, is conclusive as to those rights upon any future petition, unless appealed against within six months after such report; or in case the six months shall expire during a dissolution, or a recess by proregation, or adjournment for fourteen days, then within fourteen days after the next meeting.

In all cases where a select committee, appointed to try the merits of an election, report to the House, that they have struck out or added names to the register, the Speaker shall issue his directions to the clerk of the peace, town-clerk, or other officer, with whom the register is deposited, to amend it accordingly.

If parliament should be prorogued after a petition, complaining of an undue election or return, or the emission of a return, has been presented, but not taken into consideration, the House, within two days after the next meeting, shall appoint a time for considering it; and a committee sitting for the trial of such petitions shall not, before reporting its final determination, be dissolved by the prorogation of parliament.

Usages of the House of Commons.

BEFORE a member can take his seat, or give his vote in the House, he must subscribe to the oaths directed to be taken by law, but the members at the commencement of a new parliament may proceed to choose their speaker before this ceremony, the choice of speaker having precedence over all other business. The election of speaker is as follows. A member standing up in his place, and making an introductory speech, moves that such a member as he names shall take the chair, and being seconded by some other member, if no contest arise, the mover and seconder lead the person they have named from his seat to the bar of the house, and thence they conduct him, bowing thrice, up to the chair, where, being placed, he stands up, and returns thanks to the House. If another member be moved for, and the motion seconded, and consequently a contest arise, the choice is determined by a question as in a committee of the whole . House, the Clerk of the Commons being the person whose duty it is on such occasions to put the question. After his election the speaker presents himself at the bar of the House of Lords, to receive the royal approbation of the choice made by the Commons, on which occasion he claims, in behalf of the House, all their ancient rights and privileges, as well as free access to the person of the Sovereign, and that the most favourable construction may be put on all their words and proceedings.

The House of Commons cannot proceed to business unless there be what is termed "a House," that is, forty members present; but a House once formed, business may go on be the number present what it may, unless any member should require the House to be counted. when, if the required number be not present, the speaker is bound to adjourn it until the next day. In the occupation of seats in the House, there is observed some kind of etiquette, and precedence; the City members at the opening of parliament are entitled to the front bench on the right hand of the speaker, and, if aldermen, appear robed. On other occasions this bench is, by courtesy of the House (for no right exists), occupied by the ministers, and bears the name of the " treasury bench," directly facing which sit the chief members of the opposition, and the supporters of either party generally place themselves behind their respective leaders.

There are two kinds of committees—a private or select committee, and a committee of the whole House; for a description of the formation and procedure of the r the reader is referred to what has been said of on committees, all private committees being on a nearly similar. A committee of the whole House med for the purpose of discussing public measures sportance in detail, and consists of every member. In the House goes into committee the speaker leaves hair, and another member, whose appointment is ly made for the session, becomes chairman. In the altee the speaker is considered as any other memand may join in the discussion going on.

en the speaker is in the chair, no member, except pemer, who replies, is allowed to speak more than on any subject, unless to explain; in committee, a contrary, a member may speak as often as he s. In committee the practice is, on divisions, for yes to go on one side of the house, and the Noes to ther; but on a division when not in committee, ide remains in the house, and the other goes into aby.

member who first catches the speaker's eye has dence of speaking; the House, however, is not by this rule, but may, when two members rise, mine which shall be heard.

bring a bill into the House, if it be a private one, irst necessary to prefer a petition, which is genereferred to a committee, and then leave is given to it in. In public matters leave to bring in the bill le by motion in the House.

member directed to bring in the bill presents it House drawn out on paper, with a multitude of s or void spaces, for the purpose of being filled the House as occasion requires. It is then usuead a first time without debate, and ordered to nted: a day is then appointed for the second read-then the principle of the bill is discussed, and, if it his reading, its principle is considered as allowed. the second reading it is committed, that is, reto a committee, either private, or of the whole as the case may require. In these committees the bill is read through, and debated clause by clause. amendments are made, blanks filled up, and sometimes the whole complexion of the bill is altered. After it has undergone this process, it is reported to the House by the chairman of the committee, with the amendments made to it. If the House agree to the amendments, the bill is ordered to be engrossed, and the third reading fixed, when amendments are then sometimes made; and if a new clause be to be added, it is tacked to the bill by way, as it is called, of rider. After the third reading of the bill, the Speaker puts the question "That this bill do now pass; as many as are of opinion that it do say Aye, the contrary No." This formality settled, the title of the bill is fixed and agreed on, and it is ordered to be carried to the Lords, whose concurrence to it is requested.

In the House of Lords, if passed, the bill goes through the same forms; if lost, no more notice is taken of it. If the Lords agree to it, notice is sent to the Lower House to that effect, by two Masters in Chancery, and if amendments have been made, the bill itself (which otherwise remains with the Lords) is sent back for the concurrence of the Commons. In cases where the two Houses disagree on the amendments to any bill, they usually have a conference, and if they cannot then agree the bill is dropt. Where concurrence to a bill is withheld in one House, and the bill consequently lost, it cannot be officially known to the other House without a motion for leave to search the journals of the House that had refused its sanction to it. If the Commons agree to the amendments, the bill is sent back to the Lords. The same forms are observed mutatis mutandis when the bill originates in the House of Lords, and when both Houses have done with any bill (except bills of supply, which remain with the Commons), it is deposited in the House of Lords until it receives the Royal assent. This assent is given to bills in two ways, either by the Queen in person, or by certain Commissioners empowered so to do, by letters-patent under the great seal, signed by her Majesty's own hand. The Sovereign gives her assent in person only on very important occasions, or when she goes down to prorogue the parliament, when all bills waiting to receive the royal approval are presented to her. The form of the Sovereign's assent when she gives it in person is, in public bills, for the clerk to declare "La Reine le veult," The Queen so wills it : if a private bill. " Soit fait comme il est desiré." Let it be done as it is desired: if the Royal assent be refused, it is expressed "La Reine s'avisera," The Queen will advise supon it. The speaker of the House of Commons presents the bills of supply, and usually makes a speech or address to the Queen on the occasion, who then gives the royal assent thus, " La Reine remercie ses loyal sujets, accepte leur benevolence, et ainsi le veult," The Queen thanks her loyal subjects, accepts their benevolence, and so wills it. Pursuant to 33 GEo. III. c. 106, every act of parliament must be indorsed by the Clerk of Parliament immediately after the title, containing the day of the month and year when it receives the Royal assent, and such date is to be the commencement of the act, except it be otherwise expressed in the act itself.

The order of the day.—The order of the day is that part of the business of either House, which is appointed expressly for that day's transaction. The order of the day does not necessarily take precedence of all other business; on the contrary, many subjects frequently arise to prevent the House going to the order of the day; and when any business is going on which any member, or the House itself, may think irrelevant, it is usual to move that the order of the day be read, by which means the question before the House is laid aside without a decision. This mode of proceeding cannot be resorted to unless the House be transacting business not set down in the order list.

The previous question.—The moving of what is called the previous question is another form or contrivence by which the House avoids the necessity of entering on the subject before the House. When a motion is made, thouse who are opposed to it, instead of meeting it with a direct negative, move the previous question, that is, whether a vote be taken on it at all, by which means the principle of the bill is not touched upon. However, a question avoided by this motion may again be brought forward during the session, which is not the case with any other motion, which, when once negatived, cannot again be the subject of that session's debate. When the House is in committee, the previous question cannot be moved.

This day six months.—To defeat a bill, a motion that it be read this day six months is not unusual. This, if carried, effectually does so, for it is almost certain that the House will not be sitting at the time so fixed by the motion.

A call of the House.—A call of the House is sometimes moved, in order to enforce a full attendance of members, when any very important measure is brought before it. Any member may, on previous notice being given, insist on the House being called over, and the members are bound to attend to this call on pain of being taken into custody of the Serjeant-at-arms. From this durance they cannot be released except by order of the House, and on payment of certain fees to which they render themselves liable.

The Chiltern Hundreds.—The only mode by which a member who wishes to retire from parliament can vacate his seat, is to accept an office of profit under the crown: for this purpose the Stewardship of the Chiltern Hundreds is usually granted. The Chiltern Hundreds are districts in Buckinghamshire, belonging to the Crown, which from time immemorial have had officers strached to them, called Stewards, who derive no other profit than an annual salary of 20s. from this appointment. Thus the office being in fact merely nominal, is well suited to the purpose intended.

Privileges of the House of Commons.—The bill of rights enacts, "that the freedom of speech and debate and proceedings in parliament ought not to be impeased or questioned in any court or place out of Parliament."

Another ancient and indisputable privilege and right of the Commons is, that all grants of subsidies or parliamentary aids do originate in their House, and are first proposed by them, although their grants are not effectual to all intents and purposes until they have the assent of the other two branches of the legislature. No money bill, however, can undergo alteration or amendment in the Upper House. Members have freedom from arrest in civil matters during the session of parliament, and for forty days after each prorogation, and forty days before the next meeting, which is now, in effect, as long as the Parliament subsists, it seldom being prorogued for more than fourscore days at a time. This privilege also extends to the immediate menial servant of each member. Members of either House can daily frank ten letters, and receive free of postage fifteen.

The 6 & 7 WILLIAM and MARY, c. 2, recites, that by the ancient laws and statutes of the kingdom frequent parliaments ought to be held, and enacts that in future a parliament shall be held once in three years at the least.
